[JURY TRIAL DEMANDED]

INTRODUCTION

1. Plaintiffs Geraldine David, Susan Lara, and Theresa Haas (“Plaintiffs”) brings this class action lawsuit to put a stop to the deceptive advertising and business practices of defendant, Vi-Jon, Inc. d/b/a Germ-X (“Germ-X” or “Defendant”) regarding its false and misleading promotion of its products’ purported medicinal and virus preventative benefits.

2. Plaintiffs purchased Defendant’s products: alcohol-based hand sanitizers marketed under the name Germ-X (the “Product”).<sup>1</sup>

3. Germ-X is advertised, marketed and sold as a Product that will prevent or reduce infection from the flu and other viruses, including the coronavirus.

4. There are no reliable studies that support such representations.

5. In fact, on January 17, 2020, the United States Food & Drug Administration (“FDA”) issued a warning letter to Purell (the “Warning Letter”) regarding its representations that its alcohol-based hand sanitizer—which is nearly identical to Germ-X—could prevent the flu and other viruses. The FDA stated that it is not aware of “any adequate and well-controlled studies” supporting that representation.<sup>2</sup>

6. Germ-X and Purell both rely on ethyl alcohol as the active ingredient in their hand-sanitizing products. Purell contains 70% ethyl alcohol, while Germ-X advertises that it contains 62%. Therefore, the FDA’s Warning Letter, condemning Purell’s misrepresentations that its hand sanitizer is intended for reducing or preventing the flu and other viruses, applies equally to Germ-X. In fact, the FDA explicitly expanded its warning beyond Purell, stating that “we are not aware of a

<sup>1</sup> “Product” is defined herein as all products in the Germ-X® Hand Sanitizer product line, including “Germ-X® Original Hand Sanitizer” “Germ-X® Hand Sanitizer, Aloe,” “Germ-X® Anti-Bacterial Hand Wipes,” “Germ-X® Advanced Hand Sanitizer, Aloe,” “Germ-X® Moisturizing Original Hand Sanitizer” and “Germ Blaster.” These products are marketed in different sizes and package configurations and are designed to be used with various push-style or hands-free dispensers.

<sup>2</sup> See Warning Letter at <https://www.fda.gov/inspections-compliance-enforcement-and-criminal-investigations/warning-letters/gojo-industries-inc-599132-01172020> (last accessed February 10, 2020).

1 similar OTC [over the counter] product as formulated and labeled” that is supported
2 by evidence that it prevents infection from the flu or other viruses.<sup>3</sup>

3 7. Despite this, Germ-X has represented in advertisements, various social
4 media and on its website and other retail websites, that its Product prevents the flu
5 and other viruses.

6 8. For example, Defendant’s advertisements on Amazon.com show
7 pictures of a sneezing child and another child with a thermometer in her mouth and 8 an adult hand on her forehead (as if checking for a fever). These images are designed 9 to convey the impression to consumers that Germ-X products are effective in 10 preventing and treating certain communicable, viral diseases.

11 9. Moreover, the same advertisement on Amazon.com further suggests 12 that using Germ-X results in a clinical reduction in infection or disease of the flu or 13 other viruses, by stating that Germ-X will “fit your every need during the cold and 14 flu season.”<sup>4</sup>

15 10. Even more explicitly, and taking advantage of a newfound, widespread 16 fear, an advertisement on Walmart.com affirmatively—and falsely—claims that 17 Germ-X provides “Coronavirus/Flu Prevention.”<sup>5</sup>

18 11. Defendant misleads consumers into believing its products can prevent 19 disease or infection from pathogens such as Coronavirus and flu along with other

1 claims that go beyond the general intended use of a topical alcohol-based hand
2 sanitizer.

3 12. These misrepresentations allow Defendant to unlawfully increase its 4 sales and unjustifiably capture market share from its competitors.

5 13. Defendant's deceptive sale and advertising of its products constitutes 6 violations of: (1) California's Consumer Legal Remedies Act ("CLRA"), Cal. Civ.
7 Code §§ 1750, et seq.; (2) California's False Advertising Law ("FAL"), Bus. & Prof.
8 Code §§ 17500, et seq.; (3) California's Unfair Competition Law ("UCL"), Bus. &
9 Prof. Code §§ 17200, et seq.; (4) negligent misrepresentation; and (5) intentional
10 misrepresentation.

11 14. This conduct caused Plaintiffs, and others similarly situated, damages,
12 requiring restitution and injunctive relief to remedy and to prevent further harm.

13 15. Plaintiffs make the allegations as follows upon personal knowledge as 14 to their own acts and experiences, and, as to all other matters, upon information and 15 belief, including investigation conducted by their attorneys.

16 JURISDICTION AND VENUE

17 16. This Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to the Class Action
18 Fairness Act ("CAFA") because the amount in controversy in this matter exceeds 19 $5,000,000.00<sup>6</sup> as to all putative Class members, inclusive of attorneys' fees and 20 costs, and injunctive relief. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d).

21 17. This Court has diversity jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332 because 22 Plaintiffs are residents and citizens of the State of California, and Defendant is a 23 corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Tennessee with its 24 principal place of business in St. Louis, Missouri.

27 <sup>6</sup> On information and belief, Defendant sells its Products in brick and mortar stores and online 28 retailers throughout California. Based upon the advertised price of Defendant's products and their statewide availability, Plaintiff is informed, believes, and thereon alleges the class damages exceed the $5,000,000 threshold as set by 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d).

1           18. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendant because Defendant
2 conducts business and intentionally and voluntarily advertised and sold the Product
3 to Plaintiffs, California residents. Therefore, Defendant has sufficient minimum
4 contacts with this State, and otherwise purposely avails itself of the markets in this 5 state through the promotion, sale, and marketing of its products in this State, to 6 render the exercise of jurisdiction by this Court permissible under traditional notions
7 of fair play and substantial justice.

8           19. Venue is proper in the United States District Court for the Southern 9 District of California pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391 for the following reasons: (i) at 10 all material times hereto, Plaintiff Geraldine David resided in the County of San 11 Diego, State of California; and (ii) many of the acts and transactions giving rise to 12 this action occurred in this district.

13 PARTIES

14           20. Plaintiff Geraldine David is a natural person residing in San Diego
15 County, in the State of California.

16           21. Plaintiff Theresa Haas is a natural person residing in Kern County in 17 the State of California.

18           22. Plaintiff Susan Lara is a natural person residing in Los Angeles County
19 in the State of California.

20           23. Defendant is a corporation that is organized and exists under the laws
21 of the State of Tennessee with its principal place of business in St. Louis, Missouri.

22           24. Defendant manufactures and/or distributes various products, including 23 hand sanitizers. Defendant conducts extensive business through Internet sales, 24 including through the websites Amazon.com, Walmart.com, and Germx.com, and 25 enjoys wide retail distribution at numerous stores throughout the United States, and 26 California including Walmart and Walgreens.

NATURE OF THE CASE

25. At all times relevant, Defendant made and continues to make affirmative misrepresentations regarding its Products, which it manufactures, markets and sells in physical stores and online through its own website and other online retailers.

26. Defendant advertised, marketed, packaged, and sold its Products to Plaintiffs and other consumers similarly situated in California with the false representation that its Product prevented disease or infection from pathogens such as Coronavirus and flu.

27. Indeed, there is no basis for Defendant's representations that the Product is at all effective in reducing illnesses.

28. Despite the foregoing, Defendant sells the Products to consumers knowing and intending that these consumers use the Products. For example, Defendant bottles these Products in small units of 3, 8, and 12 ounce bottles, for individual use.<sup>7</sup>

29. Websites, such as Amazon.com, contain reviews and experiences of consumers. Many of these reviews including testimonials that also demonstrate consumers utilizing the Product for their own personal use.<sup>8</sup>

30. The misrepresentations that Defendant made caused Plaintiffs and similarly situated California consumers to purchase and to use substances that the FDA considers to be unapproved for the purpose stated by Defendant. Moreover, Defendant's false claims about its Product mislead consumers and allow Defendant to gain a market share, which is an unfair advantage compared to its competitors.

1 that it prevents the flu and other viruses (including coronavirus) or infers this
2 misrepresentation with the use of wording, images, and links.

3 42. Defendant makes the following claims in its marketing:

4 a. On Walmart's website, Germ-X explicitly states that its
5 Product is meant for "Coronavirus/Flu Prevention."<sup>9</sup>

b. On Amazon.com, Germ-X's product pages contain "a message from the manufacturer" which, together with the images and text, gives consumers the misleading impression that Germ-X prevents the flu and colds. Below the graphics of sick children, the text reads, "[w]hether you're looking to fight germs in the classroom, office, or at home, our fast-acting hand sanitizers come in forms to fit your every need during the cold and flu season."

From the manufacturer

We're on a mission to help prevent the spread of germs

Let's face it - where there are people, there are germs. So we make Germ-X products that go wherever you do. Whether you're looking to fight germs in the classroom, office, or home, our fast-acting hand sanitizers come in forms to fit your every need during the cold and flu season.

c. From the Germ-X website, on a page entitle “Seasonal Illness,” Defendant connects a family’s fear of contracting the flu with the misleading impression that Germ-X prevents it. First, Defendant places these images and text under the tab “Seasonal Illness” (like the flu). Then, under images of a family with young children, Germ-X infers that its product prevents the flu by placing links to “Flu.gov” and “CDC: Flu Information.” These links are placed intentionally and misleadingly aside images of Germ-X hand sanitizer which Defendant explicitly states are “Recommended Products.” Germ-X gives the consumer the misleading impression that the CDC and the federal government are recommending Germ-X to prevent the flu through the use of the images and text below:<sup>10</sup>

d. From the Germ-X website, on a page entitled “CDC Resources,” Defendant gives the misleading impression that Germ-X can prevent viruses, including, not only the flu, but also Ebola and MSRA. Germ-X uses an image of a woman dressed as a doctor, holding a clipboard reading “official report hand hygiene.” Defendant uses the phrase “hand hygiene,” as opposed to hand washing, to suggest that the inclusion of alcohol-based hand sanitizers like Germ-X, in addition to hand washing with soap and water, can help consumers “avoid getting sick and spreading germs.” The inclusion of links to the CDC sites below the images and text, not only gives the false impression that the CDC has endorsed the use of Germ-X (an impression reinforced by the image of the “doctor” holding the “official report”) but that the “sick[nesses]” that “hand hygiene” can prevent include: flu, MRSA, and Ebola:

e. From the Germ-X website, Defendant has a page entitled “Schools” which gives the misleading impression that Germ-X can prevent school children from contracting viruses including the flu and MRSA:

f. On its Facebook page, Defendant markets with posts which also give the misleading impression that Germ-X prevents the flu and other disease:

43. Germ-X is aware that consumers’ fear of flu and other viruses, together with Defendant’s misrepresentations that it prevents such diseases and illnesses, drives massive profits for the company.

44. As the Boston Globe reported:

Germ-X, a leading hand sanitizer brand, may get a big boost in sales this fall because of concern about H1N1 when students return to school, said Kristin Ebert, a spokeswoman for Vi-Jon Inc., which manufactures Germ-X. The company this year added several new fragrances, along with a portable 1-ounce purse spray and individual wipes, to make sanitizing on the go more convenient.

“Our goal is to ensure that we are doing everything possible to have products on the shelf for those consumers as that extra peace of mind,” Ebert said.

45. However, as Defendant well knew, and as the FDA Warning Letter has confirmed, there are no “adequate and well-controlled studies” supporting a representation that alcohol-based hand sanitizers produce a clinical reduction in infection or disease of the flu or other viruses.

46. In fact, scientific studies have shown that alcohol-based hand sanitizers like Germ-X are not effective for the prevention of the flu and other viruses.<sup>11</sup>

47. At the time Plaintiffs purchased Defendant’s Products, Plaintiffs believed and relied upon the representations, including on Defendant’s Products’ labels and website, that the Product prevented and reduced disease and illness.

<sup>11</sup> See <https://www.asm.org/Press-Releases/2019/September-1/Towards-Better-Hand-Hygiene-for-Flu-Prevention> (last visited February 10, 2020) (“The influenza A virus (IAV) remains infectious in wet mucus from infected patients, even after being exposed to an ethanol-based disinfectant (EBD) for two full minutes”).

1           48. On information and belief, Defendant's Product's label, packaging,
2 marketing, and advertising materials are prepared and/or approved by Defendant
3 and/or its agents.

4           49. As mentioned in detail above, there is no evidence that Defendant's
5 Products prevent disease or reduce illness.

6           50. The "FDA is currently not aware of any adequate and well-
7 controlled studies demonstrating that killing or decreasing the number of 8 bacteria or viruses on the skin by a certain magnitude produces a 9 corresponding clinical reduction in infection or disease caused by such bacteria
10 or virus."<sup>12</sup>

11           51. Germs are made up of bacteria, viruses, fungi, and protozoa.

12           52. By Defendant stating that its Product kills 99.99% of germs, it is 13 actually stating that the Product kills 99.99% of bacteria and viruses. Defendant then 14 makes the jump to the conclusion that by killing 99.99% of bacteria and viruses, this 15 results in the Product preventing disease and reducing illness, which is not true.

16           53. Consequently, Defendant's Product is misleading by marketing it as 17 preventing disease and reducing illness.

18           54. Defendant knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care, should have 19 known that its Product's label and advertising materials were misleading or false.

20           55. As a consequence of Defendant's unfair and deceptive advertising and 21 manufacturing practices, Plaintiffs and other consumers similarly situated purchased
22 and overpaid for Defendant's Products under the false impression that the Products
23 prevented disease and reduced illness.

24           56. Had Plaintiffs been aware that there was no evidence the Product
25 prevented disease and reduced illness, Plaintiffs would have purchased a different
26 product or no product at all. In other words, Plaintiffs would not have purchased
27

28 <sup>12</sup> Warning Letter at <https://www.fda.gov/inspections-compliance-enforcement-and-criminal-investigations/warning-letters/gojo-industries-inc-599132-01172020> (last visited February 10, 2020).

1 Defendant's Products but for the representations on the Products' related
2 advertising.

3 57. Plaintiffs and others similarly situated were exposed to and relied upon
4 the same material misrepresentations made in California, including on Defendant's
5 Product's label and Defendant's website, other websites including Amazon.com and 6 Walmart.com, and Defendant's Facebook site.

7 58. As a result of Defendant's false and misleading statements and failure
8 to disclose, Plaintiffs, and other similarly situated consumers, purchased thousands,
9 if not tens or hundreds of thousands, of units of Defendant's Product, and have 10 suffered, and continue to suffer, injury in fact through the loss of money and/or 11 property.

12 59. Included within the demands of this Complaint are any products
13 manufactured by Defendant, which are characterized by Defendant as "hand 14 sanitizers."

15 60. This action seeks, among other things, equitable and injunctive relief,
16 restitution of all amounts illegally obtained, and disgorgement of any and all ill-
17 gotten gains as a result of the misconduct alleged herein.

18 Factual Allegations of Plaintiff Geraldine David

19 61. Sometime in 2019 and 2020, Plaintiff David purchased Defendant's 8
20 ounce pump bottle of Germ-X® Hand Sanitizer.

21 62. Plaintiff purchased Germ-X® Hand Sanitizer on regular basis from her 22 local Target, Walmart, and Dollar Tree stores.

23 63. Each of these purchases was made with Plaintiff's Visa Debit card.

24 64. Before purchasing the Product on various occasions, Plaintiff David 25 viewed advertisements that contained misrepresentations by Defendant that the 26 Product prevents disease and reduces illness.

27 65. Plaintiff David relied on Defendant's misrepresentations in deciding to 28 purchase the Product.

66. Plaintiff David's last purchase of Germ-X® Hand Sanitizer (Original) 8 ounce bottle (pack of 6) was made on February 2, 2020, and again made due to Defendant's misrepresentations regarding Germ-X® Hand Sanitizer's ability to prevent and reduce risks of illnesses.

Factual Allegations of Plaintiff Theresa Haas

67. In or around December 2019, Plaintiff Haas purchased Defendant's 12 ounce pump bottle of Germ-X® Aloe Hand Sanitizer for approximately $3.00 from a Walmart store located in Bakersfield, California.

68. Before purchasing the Product, Plaintiff Haas viewed advertisements that contained misrepresentations by Defendant that the Product prevents disease and reduces illness.

69. Plaintiff Haas relied on Defendant's misrepresentations in deciding to purchase the Product December 2019.

Factual Allegations of Plaintiff Susan Lara

70. In or around August 2019 and October 2019, Plaintiff Lara purchased Defendant's 12 ounce pump bottle of Germ-X® Original Hand Sanitizer for approximately $3.00 from a Walmart store located in Rosemead, California.

71. Before purchasing the Product, Plaintiff Lara viewed advertisements that contained misrepresentations by Defendant that the Product prevents disease and reduces illness.

72. Plaintiff Lara relied on Defendant's misrepresentations in deciding to purchase the Product August 2019 and October 2019.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

73. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate by reference all of the above paragraphs of this Complaint as though fully stated herein.

74. Plaintiffs bring this action collectively, and on behalf of all others similarly situated, against Defendant, pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 23(a) and (b)(3) and/or (b)(2).

1           75. Subject to additional information obtained through further investigation
2 and/or discovery, the proposed class (the “Class”) consists of:

3                   All persons within California who purchased Germ-X Products,
4                   within the four years prior to the filing of this Complaint.

5           76. Excluded from the Class are Defendant and any of its officers, directors,
6 and employees, or anyone who purchased Defendant’s Product for the purpose of 7 resale. Plaintiffs reserve the right to modify or amend the Class definition before the 8 Court determines whether certification is appropriate.

9           77. The “Class Period” means four years prior to the filing of the Complaint
10 in this action.

11           78. Ascertainability. The members of the Class are readily ascertainable
12 from Defendant’s records and/or Defendant’s agents’ records of retail and online
13 sales, as well as through public notice.

14           79. Numerosity. The members of the Class are so numerous that their 15 individual joinder is impracticable. Plaintiffs are informed and believe that the 16 Products are sold online and the Products have hundreds of customer reviews, and 17 on that basis, Plaintiffs allege that the putative Class consists of hundreds, if not 18 thousands of members.

19           80. Existence and Predominance of Common Questions of Law and 20 Fact. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Class and 21 predominate over any questions affecting only individual Class members. All 22 members of the Class have been subject to the same conduct and their claims are 23 based on the same standardized marketing, advertisements and promotions. The 24 common legal and factual questions include, but are not limited to, the following:

- 25           a. Whether the Products were actually advertised as preventing disease
26                   and reducing illness;
- 27
28

- b. Whether Defendant's claims and representations, as alleged herein, are untrue, misleading, and/or reasonably likely to deceive the average consumer;
- c. Whether Defendant's conduct violates California Civil Code §§ 1750, et seq.;
- d. Whether Defendant's advertising is false, untrue, or misleading within the meaning of California Business & Professions Code §§ 17500, et seq.;
- e. Whether Defendant's conduct is an unfair, fraudulent, or unlawful act or practice within the meaning of California Business & Professions Code §§ 17200, et seq.;
- f. Whether Defendant's advertising is unfair, deceptive, untrue or misleading within the meaning of California Business & Professions Code §§ 17200, et seq.;
- g. Whether Defendant acted negligently or intentionally in making the misrepresentations contained on the Product's label and in its advertising;
- h. Whether Defendant, through its conduct, received money that, in equity and good conscience, belongs to the Plaintiff and members of the Class;
- i. Whether the Plaintiffs and the putative Class members are entitled to equitable relief, including but not limited to restitution and/or disgorgement of ill-gotten gains; and
- j. Whether the Plaintiffs and the putative Class members are entitled to injunctive relief as sought herein.

81. Typicality. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Class in that the Plaintiffs are members of the Class that the Plaintiffs seek to represent. Similar to members of the putative Class, Plaintiffs purchased Product

1 after exposure to the same material misrepresentations appearing on the Product's
2 label and advertising, including on Defendant's website, other websites including
3 Amazon.com and Walmart.com, and Defendant's Facebook site. Plaintiffs also 4 received Product that does not actually prevent disease or reduce illness. Plaintiffs
5 are advancing the same claims and legal theories on behalf of herself and all absent
6 members of the Class. Defendant has no defenses unique to the Plaintiffs.

7 82. Adequacy of Representation. Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately
8 protect the interests of the members of the putative Class. Plaintiffs have retained 9 counsel experienced in consumer protection law, including class actions, and 10 specifically, false and deceptive advertising. Plaintiffs have no adverse or 11 antagonistic interest to those in the Class and will fairly and adequately protect the 12 interests of the Class. Plaintiffs' attorneys are aware of no interests adverse or 13 antagonistic to those of Plaintiffs and proposed Class.

14 83. Superiority. A class action is superior to all other available means for 15 the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. Individualized litigation would 16 create the danger of inconsistent and/or contradictory judgments arising from the 17 same set of facts. Individualized litigation would also increase the delay and expense
18 to all parties and the court system. The damages or other financial detriment suffered 19 by individual Class members may be relatively small compared to the burden and 20 expense that would be entailed by individual litigation of the claims against the 21 Defendant. The injury suffered by each individual member of the proposed class is 22 relatively small in comparison to the burden and expense of individual prosecution
23 of the complex and extensive litigation necessitated by Defendant's conduct. It
24 would be virtually impossible for members of the proposed Class to individually
25 redress effectively the wrongs to them. Even if the members of the proposed Class
26 could afford such litigation, the court system could not. Individualized litigation of 27 the complex legal and factual issues of such a case increases the delay and expense
28 to all parties, including the court. By contrast, the class action device presents far

1 fewer management difficulties, and provides the benefits of single adjudication,
 2 economy of scale, and comprehensive supervision by a single court. Therefore, a
 3 class action is maintainable pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 23(a) and 4 (b)(3) and/or (b)(2).

5 84. Unless the Class is certified, Defendant will retain monies received as 6 a result of Defendant's unlawful and deceptive conduct alleged herein. Unless a
 7 class-wide injunction is issued, Defendant will also likely continue to, or allow its 8 resellers to, advertise, market, promote, and sell the Class Products in an unlawful 9 and misleading manner, and members of the Class will continue to be misled,
 10 harmed, and denied their rights under California law.

11 85. Further, Defendant has acted or refused to act on grounds that are 12 generally applicable to the class so that declaratory and injunctive relief is 13 appropriate to the Class as a whole, making class certification appropriate pursuant 14 to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(2).

15
 16 FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION FOR
 17 VIOLATIONS OF CALIFORNIA'S FALSE ADVERTISING LAW ("FAL")
BUS. & PROF. CODE §§ 17500, ET SEQ.

18 86. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate by reference all of the above
 19 paragraphs of this Complaint as though fully stated herein.

20 87. Plaintiffs and Defendant are "person[s]" as defined by California
 21 Business & Professions Code § 17506.

22 88. California Business & Professions Code § 17535 authorizes a private 23 right of action on both an individual and representative basis.

24 89. Defendant holds its Products out as preventing disease and reducing 25 illness, when, in fact, there is no valid evidence the Product does so.

1           90. These misrepresentations, acts, and non-disclosures by Defendant
2 constitute false and misleading advertising in violation of Business & Professions
3 Code §§ 17500, et seq.

4           91. At all times relevant, Defendant's advertising and promotion of its
5 Products were, and are, untrue, misleading, and likely to deceive the reasonable
6 consumer and the public. In fact, Defendant did deceive Plaintiffs and the putative
7 Class members by representing that its Products prevented disease and reduced
8 illness. When, in reality, Defendant knew that there is no valid evidence its Product
9 prevented disease and reduced illness.

10           92. Defendant engaged in the false and/or misleading advertising and 11 marketing of its Products, as alleged herein, with the intent to directly or indirectly
12 induce consumers to purchase its Products, which Defendant knew, or had reason to 13 know, did not prevent disease or reduce illness.

14           93. Because Defendant knew or should have known that the representations
15 and/or omissions alleged herein were untrue or misleading, Defendant acted in 16 violation of California Business & Professions Code §§ 17500, et seq.

17           94. Had Defendant truthfully advertised that its Products did not prevent 18 disease or reduce illness, Plaintiffs and the putative Class members would not have 19 purchased the Product or would have purchased a different product from another 20 manufacturer.

21           95. This false and misleading advertising of the Product by Defendant
22 presents a continuing threat to consumers; as such conduct is ongoing to this day.

23           96. As a direct and proximate result of the aforementioned acts and 24 omissions by Defendant, Defendant received and continues to hold monies rightfully
25 belonging to Plaintiffs and the putative Class members, who were led to purchase
26 Defendant's Product during the Class Period.

27                               SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION FOR 28                               VIOLATIONS OF CALIFORNIA'S UNFAIR COMPETITION LAW ("UCL")

BUS. & PROF. CODE §§ 17200, *ET SEQ.

97. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate by reference all of the above paragraphs of this Complaint as though fully stated herein.

98. Plaintiffs and Defendant are each a “person” as defined by California Business & Professions Code § 17201. California Business & Professions Code § 17204 authorizes a private right of action on both an individual and representative basis.

99. “Unfair competition” is defined by Business and Professions Code § 17200 as encompassing several types of business “wrongs,” including: (1) an “unlawful” business act or practice, (2) an “unfair” business act or practice, (3) a “fraudulent” business act or practice, and (4) “unfair, deceptive, untrue or misleading advertising.” The definitions in § 17200 are drafted in the disjunctive, meaning that each of these “wrongs” operates independently from the others.

100. By and through Defendant’s conduct alleged in further detail above and herein, Defendant engaged in conduct which constitutes unlawful, unfair, and/or fraudulent business practices, and unfair, deceptive, untrue or misleading advertising, as prohibited by California’s UCL.

A. “UNLAWFUL” PRONG

101. Beginning at a date currently unknown and continuing to the time of the filing of this Complaint, Defendant has committed acts of unfair competition, including those described above, by engaging in a pattern of “unlawful” business practices, within the meaning of Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17200 et seq., by marketing, manufacturing, and distributing Defendant’s Product in violation of California’s Consumers Legal Remedies Act, Civil Code § 1759, et seq. and California’s False Advertising Law, Business & Professions Code §§ 17500, et seq., as well as other Federal regulations.

102. Defendant violated the above-referenced statutes by falsely representing that its Product prevented disease and reduced illness, when in fact the product did not prevent disease or reduce illness.

103. Defendant had other reasonably available alternatives to further its business interests, other than the unlawful conduct described herein.

104. By advertising, promoting, manufacturing, and selling its Product in violation of those California laws, Defendant engaged in a pattern of “unlawful” business practices within the meaning of California’s UCL.

105. Plaintiffs reserve the right to allege other violations of law, which constitute additional unlawful business practices or acts, as such conduct is ongoing and continues to this date.

B. “UNFAIR” PRONG

106. Beginning at a date currently unknown and continuing to the time of the filing of this Complaint, Defendant has committed acts of unfair competition as prohibited by Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17200, et seq.

107. Had Plaintiffs and the putative class members been informed that Defendant’s Product did not prevent disease and reduce illness, they would not have purchased the Products or would have purchased a different product. In other words, Defendant earned the business of Plaintiffs and the putative Class members by using deceptive advertising, which placed competitors at a disadvantage.

108. Such conduct is “unfair” because it offends established public policy and/or is immoral, unethical, oppressive, unscrupulous, and/or substantially injurious to consumers in that consumers are led to believe that by spending money and purchasing Defendant’s Product, consumers are protecting their health and preventing diseases, when in fact they are not.

109. Plaintiffs could not have reasonably avoided the injuries they suffered. Indeed, through its advertising, Defendant insinuates its Product is approved by the CDC and doctors vouch for its disease prevention effectiveness.

110. Furthermore, Plaintiffs and the putative Class members were harmed in that they paid a price premium for the Products.

C. "FRAUDULENT" PRONG

111. Beginning at a date currently unknown and continuing to the time of the filing of this Complaint, Defendant engaged in acts of unfair competition, including those described above and herein, in violation of Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17200, et seq., by engaging in a pattern of "fraudulent" business practices within the meaning of Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17200, et seq., by falsely advertising its Product as preventing disease and reducing illness, when, in fact, the Product does not prevent disease and reduce illness.

112. Defendant's fraudulent practices as described above, present an ongoing threat to consumers because consumers will continue to be misled by the Product Defendant offers in stores and on its website.

113. Plaintiffs reserve the right to allege further conduct that constitutes other fraudulent business acts or practices. Such conduct is ongoing and continues to this date.

D. "UNFAIR, DECEPTIVE, UNTRUE OR MISLEADING ADVERTISING" PRONG

114. Defendant's advertising is unfair, deceptive, untrue, and/or misleading within the meaning of Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17200, et seq., in that consumers are led to believe that Defendant's Product prevents disease and reduces illness, when, in fact, the Product does not prevent disease or reduce illness, as alleged herein.

115. Plaintiffs and other such reasonable consumers are likely to be, and were, deceived and misled by Defendant's advertising of its Products, as preventing disease and reducing illness.

116. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's unlawful, unfair, and fraudulent conduct described herein, Defendant received and continues to receive an unfair competitive advantage and unearned commercial benefits at the expense of its

1 competitors and the public, who unwittingly provided money to Defendant based on
2 Defendant's misleading representations.

3 117. Plaintiffs and the putative Class members suffered an injury in fact
4 because Plaintiffs' money was taken by Defendant as a result of Defendant's false
5 representations as set forth in its advertising, including on the Product's label,
6 Defendant's website, other websites including Amazon.com and Walmart.com,
7 Defendant's Facebook site and other 3rd party retailers as mentioned herein.

8 118. Such acts and omissions by Defendant are unlawful and/or unfair
9 and/or fraudulent, and constitute multiple violations of California's UCL. Plaintiffs
10 reserve the right to identify additional violations by Defendant as may be established
11 through discovery.

12 119. In prosecuting this action for the enforcement of important rights
13 affecting the public interest, Plaintiffs seek the recovery of attorneys' fees, which 14 reward is available to prevailing plaintiffs in a class action such as this.

15 THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
16 NEGLIGENT MISREPRESENTATION

17 120. Plaintiffs repeat, re-allege, and incorporate by reference the above
18 allegations as if fully stated herein.

19 121. Beginning at a date currently unknown and continuing to the time of 20 the filing of this Complaint, Defendant represented to Plaintiffs and others similarly 21 situated, through product packaging and advertising materials, that Defendant's
22 Product prevented disease and reduced illness.

23 122. Defendant made these representations knowing, or having reason to 24 know, that its Products did not prevent disease and reduce illness.

25 123. Defendant acted with the intent to induce the public, including Plaintiffs
26 and putative Class members, to purchase Defendant's Product.
27
28

1 124. Plaintiffs and the putative Class members saw, believed, and relied
 2 upon Defendant's representations in making the decision to purchase Defendant's
 3 Product.

4 125. At all times relevant, Defendant knew or should have known that such
 5 representations were untrue, and Defendant had no reasonable basis for believing
 6 the representations to be true.

7 126. As a proximate result of Defendant's negligent misrepresentations,
 8 Plaintiffs and other consumers similarly situated were induced to purchase, purchase
 9 more of, or pay more for Defendant's Products due to the unlawful acts of 10 Defendant, in an amount to be determined at trial, during the Class Period.

11 FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
 12 INTENTIONAL MISREPRESENTATION

13 127. Plaintiffs re-allege, and incorporate herein by reference the above
 14 allegations as if fully stated herein.

15 128. Beginning at a date currently unknown and continuing to the time of 16 the filing of this Complaint, Defendant intentionally represented to Plaintiffs and 17 others similarly situated, through Product's packaging and advertising materials, that 18 Defendant's Product prevented disease and reduced illness.

19 129. Defendant acted intentionally by marketing its Product as one that 20 prevents disease and reduces illness.

21 130. Because the FDA found there is no evidence that shows alcohol-based 22 hand sanitizers like the Product prevents disease or reduces illness, the Product does 23 not have the benefits that Defendant advertises.

24 131. Furthermore, by including the statement that the Product "[k]ills more 25 than 99.99% of germs" on the label of the Product, Defendant is implying that this 26 Product prevents the spread of viruses, for which there is no evidence.

27 132. Defendant knew or had reason to know such representations were false,
 28 and continued to advertise its Product in a false or misleading way.

133. Defendant further knew that retailers were advertising its Product as preventing disease and reducing illness, because Defendant designed, manufactured, and affixed the product labeling to its Products before supplying the Products to the retailers.

134. Plaintiffs and the putative Class members saw, believed, and relied upon Defendant's representations in making the decision to purchase Defendant's Product.

135. As a proximate result of Defendant's intentional misrepresentations, Plaintiffs and the putative Class members were damaged in an amount to be determined at trial.

136. Plaintiffs allege the "who, what, when, where, and how" of the alleged deception by Defendant as follows:

- i. The "who" is Defendant;
- ii. The "what" is the representation that Defendant's Product, and substantially similar products, had ingredients that prevented disease or reduced illness;
- iii. The "when" is the date Plaintiffs purchased the Product, and the Class Period of four years prior to the filing of this Complaint;
- iv. The "where" is in Defendant's product labeling, advertisements, and online marketing; and
- v. The "how" is the allegation that Defendant did not disclose that its Product did not prevent disease or reduce illness.

137. By engaging in the acts described above, Defendant is guilty of malice, oppression, and fraud, and Plaintiffs and the putative Class are therefore entitled to recover exemplary or punitive damages.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION
CALIFORNIA CONSUMERS LEGAL REMEDIES ACT
CAL. CIV. CODE §§ 1750, ET SEQ.

1 138. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate by reference all of the above
2 paragraphs of this Complaint as though fully stated herein.

4 139. California Civil Code section 1750, et seq., titled the Consumers Legal 5 Remedies Act (“CLRA”), provides a list of “unfair or deceptive” practices in a 6 “transaction” relating to the sale of “goods” or “services” to a “consumer.” The 7 Legislature’s intent in promulgating the CLRA is expressed in Civil Code section 8 1760, which provides, inter alia, that its terms are to be:

9           Construed liberally and applied to promote its underlying
10           purposes, which are to protect consumers against unfair
11           and deceptive business practices and to provide efficient
12           and economical procedures to secure such protection.

13 140. Defendant and Plaintiffs are each “person[s]” as defined pursuant to 14 Civil Code section 1761(c).

15 141. Defendant’s Product constitutes a “good” as defined pursuant to Civil 16 Code Section 1761(a).

17 142. Plaintiffs and the Class members are each “consumer[s]” as defined
18 pursuant to Civil Code Section 1761(d).

19 143. Plaintiffs and the Class Members’ purchase of Defendant’s Product
20 constituted a “transaction” as defined by Civil Code section 1761(e).

21 144. The CLRA prohibits the “following unfair methods of competition and 22 unfair or deceptive acts or practices undertaken by any person in a transaction 23 intended to result or which results in the sale of lease of goods or services to any 24 consumer” as unlawful:

25           Misrepresenting the affiliation, connection, or association
26           with, or certification by, another. Civil Code section
27           1770(a)(3).
28

1 Representing that goods . . . have . . . characteristics,
 2 ingredients, uses, benefits, . . . that they do not have . . .
 Civil Code section 1770(a)(5).

3 Advertising goods or services with intent not to sell them
 4 as advertised. Civil Code section 1770(a)(9).

5 145. Defendant violated these provisions of the CLRA by representing on 6 its labels, online, and in stores that its Product had certain benefits, including disease
 7 prevention, which are not substantiated.

8 146. Defendant further provides various links to CDC articles with 9 photographs of doctors on its website, indicating there is some connection or 10 approval with professionals to Defendant's Product.

11 147. On information and belief, Defendant's violations of the CLRA set 12 forth herein were done with awareness of the fact that the conduct alleged was 13 wrongful and was motivated solely for Defendant's self-interest, monetary gain, and 14 increased profit.

15 148. On information and belief, Defendant committed these acts knowing 16 the harm that would result to Plaintiffs and the Class, and Defendant engaged in such 17 unfair and deceptive conduct notwithstanding such knowledge.

18 149. As a direct and proximate result of Defendant's violations of the CLRA, 19 Plaintiffs are to entitled to and seek injunctive relief prohibiting such conduct in the 20 future.

21 150. Plaintiffs anticipate amending this complaint to include actual damages
 22 at a later time, after Defendant is given the period to cure its conduct under the 23 CLRA.
