JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

INTRODUCTION

1. The average consumer spends a mere 13 seconds making an in-store purchasing decision, or between 10 to 19 seconds for an online purchase.¹ That decision is heavily dependent on a product's packaging, and particularly the package dimensions. "Most of our studies show that 75 to 80 percent of consumers don't even bother to look at any label information, no less the net weight ... Faced with a large box and a smaller box, both with the same amount of product inside ... consumers are apt to choose the larger box because they think it's a better value."²

2. This lawsuit challenges the unfair and unlawful business practices of MRS. GOOCH'S NATURAL FOOD MARKETS, INC. ("Mrs. Gooch's") and WHOLE FOODS MARKET CALIFORNIA, INC. ("WFM California") (jointly, "Defendants") resulting from Defendants' intentional packaging of its 365 by Whole Foods Market Organic Hot Cocoa Flavor Mix, Rich Chocolate ("Product")³ in large and opaque 12 oz containers that contain approximately 44% empty space. Consumers, in reliance on the size of the containers, paid a price for the Product which they would not have paid had they known that the containers were substantially empty.

1 3. Jennifer Goodwin (“Plaintiff”), individually and on behalf of all others
2 similarly situated, brings this Class Action Complaint for damages, injunctive relief,
3 and any other available legal or equitable remedies, resulting from Defendants’
4 unlawful and deceptive actions, with respect to the packaging of their Product.

5 4. Plaintiff alleges as follows upon personal knowledge as to herself and her own
6 acts and experiences, and, as to all other matters, upon information and belief,
7 including investigation conducted by her attorneys.

8 5. Mrs. Gooch’s is a California Corporation that was acquired by Whole Foods
9 Market, Inc. in 1993.⁴ Mrs. Gooch’s is a subsidiary corporation of Whole Foods
10 Market, Inc.⁵

11 6. WFM California is a California Corporation that was formed in 1988.⁶ Like 12 Mrs. Gooch’s, WFM California is a subsidiary corporation of Whole Foods Market,
13 Inc.⁷

14 7. Whole Foods Market Inc. is a multinational supermarket chain that sells 15 health food products including 365 by Whole Foods Market products at brick-and-
16 mortar Whole Foods stores.

17 8. Defendants offer products for sale online, including on 18 wholefoodsmarket.com, and the website of its parent company, Amazon.com, Inc.

19 9. In June of 2021, a 12 oz container of the Product sold for approximately 20 $3.99.⁸

1 10. According to wholefoodsmarket.com, Whole Foods is “the world’s leader in 2 natural and organic foods, with 500+ stores in North America and the UK.” In 3 addition, Whole Foods claims that it “seek[s] out the finest natural and organic foods 4 available, maintain[s] the strictest quality standards in the industry, and [has] an 5 unshakeable commitment to sustainable agriculture.”⁹

6 11. On or about March 22, 2021, Plaintiff purchased the Product from a Whole
7 Foods store (located in Valencia, California), expecting to receive a full container of 8 the Product. The Product is packaged in non-transparent containers, as depicted 9 below.

10 12. Plaintiff was surprised and disappointed when she opened the Product to 11 discover that the container had approximately 44% empty space, or slack-fill. Had 12 Plaintiff known about the slack-fill at the time of purchase, she would not have 13 bought Defendants’ Product.

14 13. Defendants’ conduct is misleading to reasonable consumers.

15 JURISDICTION AND VENUE

16 14. Subject matter jurisdiction is proper in this Court for the California statutory 17 causes of action.

18 15. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Mrs. Gooch’s because it conducts 19 business in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, and Plaintiff was injured
20 in the County of Los Angeles where Plaintiff resides.

21 16. This Court has personal jurisdiction over WFM California because it conducts 22 business in the State of California, and WFM California consents to jurisdiction for 23 settlement purposes only.

24 17. Venue is proper.

1 PARTIES

2 18. Plaintiff is a citizen of the State of California and resides in the Country of 3 Los Angeles, State of California.

4 19. Upon information and belief, Mrs. Gooch's is a corporation whose State of 5 Incorporation is California, and whose headquarters are located in Glendale,
6 California. Mrs. Gooch's is a subsidiary of Whole Foods Market, Inc., incorporated
7 in the State of Texas and headquartered in Austin, Texas.

8 20. Upon information and belief, WFM California is a corporation whose State of 9 Incorporation is California, and whose headquarters are located in Emeryville,
10 California. WFM California is a subsidiary of Whole Foods Market, Inc., 11 incorporated in the State of Texas and headquartered in Austin, Texas.

12 21. Upon information and belief, Mrs. Gooch's and WFM California own and 13 operate the Whole Foods Market stores in California, with Mrs. Gooch's owning an 14 operating the stores located generally south of Fresno, California.

15 FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

16 Federal and California Law Prohibit Non-functional Slack Full

17 22. The Federal Food Drug and Cosmetic Act ("FDCA"), 21 U.S.C. §§ 301 et 18 seq., governs the sale of foods, drugs and cosmetics in the United States. The 19 classification of a product as a food, drug, or cosmetic affects the regulations by 20 which the manufacturer must abide. In general, a product is characterized according 21 to its intended use, which may be established, among other ways, by: (a) claims
22 stated on the product's labeling, in advertising, on the Internet, or in other
23 promotional materials; (b) consumer perception established through the product's 24 reputation, for example by asking why the consumer is buying it and what the 25 consumer expects it to do; or (c) the inclusion of ingredients well-known to have 26 therapeutic use, for example fluoride in toothpaste. The Product is characterized and 27 understood by consumers to be a food.

28 23. Under the FDCA, the term "false" has its usual meaning of untruthful, while

1 the term “misleading” is a term of art.

2 24. Misbranding reaches not only false claims, but also those claims that might 3 be technically true, but still misleading.

4 25. If any representation on the labeling is misleading, the entire Product is 5 misbranded. No other statement in the labeling cures a misleading statement.

6 26. “Misleading” is judged in reference to “the ignorant, the unthinking and the 7 credulous who, when making a purchase, do not stop to analyze.” United States v.
8 El-O-Pathic Pharmacy, 192 F.2d 62, 75 (9th Cir. 1951). Under the FDCA, it is not 9 necessary to prove that anyone was actually misled.

10 27. California has its own FDCA equivalent, the California Fair Packaging and 11 Labeling Act (“CFPLA”), Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 12606.2, which also seeks to 12 prevent companies from misleading consumers about the amount of a given product 13 contained within a package they are purchasing.

14 28. Specifically, CFPLA is considered the “Slack Fill” law for food products in 15 California. See Bus. & Prof. Code § 12606.2(a). Pursuant to this statute, “[n]o food 16 containers shall be made, formed, or filled as to be misleading.” Id. § 12606.2(b).

17 29. Moreover, “[a] container that does not allow the consumer to fully view its 18 contents shall be considered to be filled as to be misleading if it contains 19 nonfunctional slack fill.” Id. § 12606.2(c).

20 A. Misbranding of Foods

21 30. The Product, a hot cocoa mix, is packaged in a container roughly 9 centimeters
22 tall, not including the thin double seams at the top and bottom of the container.

23 31. Approximately 44% of the container’s volume is slack-fill, as only 5
24 centimeters out of the 9 centimeter container is filled with Product. The package 25 contains no scoop for its contents.

26 32. Under the FDCA, 21 U.S.C. § 343, a food shall be deemed to be misbranded 27 if “(a) . . . (1) its labeling is false or misleading in any particular”; or “(d) If its 28 container is so made, formed, or filled as to be misleading.”

1 33. Pursuant to 21 C.F.R. §100.100, a food is misbranded if “its container is so
2 made, formed or filled as to be misleading.” In addition, “(a) A container that does 3 not allow the consumer to fully view its contents shall be considered to be filled as 4 to be misleading if it contains nonfunctional slack-fill. Slack-fill is the difference
5 between the actual capacity of a container and the volume of product contained 6 therein.

7 34. Nonfunctional slack-fill is the empty space in a package that is filled to less 8 than its capacity for reasons other than:

9 (1) Protection of the contents of the package;

10 (2) The requirements of the machines used for enclosing the contents in such 11 package;

12 (3) Unavoidable product settling during shipping and handling;

13 (4) The need for the package to perform a specific function (e.g., where 14 packaging plays a role in the preparation or consumption of a food), where 15 such function is inherent to the nature of the food and is clearly communicated 16 to consumers;

17 (5) The fact that the product consists of a food packaged in a reusable 18 container where the container is part of the presentation of the food and has 19 value which is both significant in proportion to the value of the product and 20 independent of its function to hold the food, e.g., a gift product consisting of 21 a food or foods combined with a container that is intended for further use after 22 the food is consumed; or durable commemorative or promotional packages; 23 or

24 (6) Inability to increase level of fill or to further reduce the size of the package.

25 . . .

26 21 C.F.R. 100.100(a)(1)-(6).

27 35. None of the above federal safe-harbor provisions apply to the Product.

28 36. Plaintiff is informed and believes that:

- 1 (1) The Product, a hot cocoa powder, does not require protective packaging,
2 as it is not fragile or breakable;
- 3 (2) The machines used to package the Product do not require 44% of the 4 container to include slack fill;
- 5 (3) Such considerable slack fill cannot be explained by unavoidable product
6 settling during shipping and handling, as fine powder is not the sort of product 7 that “settles” significantly enough to require nearly double the amount of 8 packaging space;
- 9 (4) The packaging performs no specific function such as a role in the 10 preparation or consumption of a food—it merely contains the Product;
- 11 (5) To the extent that the Product is packaged in a reusable container, the 12 container is not part of the presentation of the food and has no value significant 13 in proportion to the value of the Product and independent of its function to 14 hold the Product; and
- 15 (6) Defendants could easily increase the level of Product fill or further 16 reduce the size of the package.

17 See 21 C.F.R. 100.100(a)(1)-(6).

18 37. Under the CFPLA, “[s]lack fill is the difference between the actual capacity
19 of a container and the volume of product contained therein.” Bus. & Prof. Code § 20 12606.2(c). “Nonfunctional slack fill is the empty space in a package that is filled to 21 substantially less than its capacity for reasons other than” one of the enumerated safe
22 harbor provisions. Id.

23 38. The CFPLA imposes requirements which mirror the federal law, but also adds
24 further safe-harbors. See Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 12606.2(c)(7)-(8).

25 39. California Business & Professions Code states, “[n]o container shall be made, 26 formed, or filled as to be misleading” and “[a] container that does not allow the 27 consumer to fully view its contents shall be considered to be filled as to be 28 misleading if it contains nonfunctional slack fill.” See Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §

1 12606(b) (incorporating the safe-harbor provisions of the Code of Federal 2 Regulations); see also Cal. Health & Safety Code § 110690 (“Any food is 3 misbranded if its container is so made, formed, or filled as to be misleading.”).

4 40. In addition to incorporating the safe-harbor provisions found in the Code of 5 Federal Regulations, which are listed above, the CFPLA also provides that slack-fill 6 is permissible when:

7 (7) One or more of the following [apply]:

8 (A) The dimensions of the product or immediate product container are 9 visible through the exterior packaging.

10 (B) The actual size of the product or immediate product container is 11 clearly and conspicuously depicted on any side of the exterior
12 packaging, excluding the bottom, accompanied by a clear and 13 conspicuous disclosure that the depiction is the “actual size” of the 14 product or immediate product container. . . .

15 (C) A line or a graphic that represents the product or product fill and a 16 statement communicating that the line or graphic represents the product
17 or product fill such as “Fill Line,” both of which are clearly and 18 conspicuously depicted on exterior packaging or the immediate product
19 container if visible at point of sale. If the product is subject to settling, 20 the line shall represent the minimum amount of product after settling.

21 (8) The mode of commerce does not allow the consumer to view or handle the 22 physical container or product.

23 Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 12606.2(c)(7)-(8).

24 41. None of the above safe-harbor provisions apply to the Product. Plaintiff is 25 informed and believes that:

26 (1) The dimensions of the Product are not visible through the exterior
27 packaging;

28 (2) The actual size of the Product is not depicted on any side of the exterior

1 packaging;

2 (3) The packaging contains no line or graphic representing the Product fill;
3 and

4 (4) The mode of commerce allows the consumer to view or handle the 5 physical container holding the Product, whether the Product is purchased at a
6 brick-and-mortar Whole Foods store or through an online seller.

7 See Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 12606.2(c)(7)-(8).

8 42. The contents of the Product are in a powdered form that do not need slack fill 9 to protect the contents.

10 43. Defendants intentionally incorporated non-functional slack-fill in their 11 packaging of the Product in order to mislead consumers, including Plaintiff and 12 Members of the Class.

13 Defendants' Product Contains Non-Functional Slack-Fill

14 44. Defendants' Product is sold in non-transparent containers with significant 15 slack-fill, as described below. The Product container depicted below is roughly 9 16 centimeters tall, not including the thin double seams at the top and bottom of the 17 container. See Photograph A below.

18 45. Between the double seams, approximately 4 centimeters, or 44% of the 19 interior of the container, is comprised of empty space, or non-functional slack fill.
20 See Photographs B, C below.

23 46. Judging from the size of the container, a reasonable consumer would expect
24 it to be nearly completely filled with Product. Consumers are misled into believing 25 that they are purchasing substantially more Product than they receive.

26 47. There is no functional reason for including 44% slack-fill in the Product
27 container.

28 48. Indeed, as evidenced by the above three pictures, this Product is in powder

1 form rendering the slack-fill completely unnecessary for function as the Product
2 cannot be damaged or lose its shape.

3 49. On information and belief, consumers have relied upon, and are continuing to 4 rely upon, the size of the Product container as the basis for making purchasing 5 decisions.

6 50. Consumers believe that the Product container is substantially full because they 7 cannot see the actual contents within the non-transparent container.

8 51. On information and belief, Defendants are selling and will continue to sell the 9 Product using these blatantly deceptive and misleading slack-filled containers.

10 52. Defendants utilize this unlawful and unfair practice of including non-11 functional slack-fill in the Product by concealing the powdered hot chocolate within 12 an entirely opaque, hard tin-type circular box so that the consumer is unable to see 13 or feel any part of the actual amount of the contents within the package. Only when 14 the consumer opens the tin lid will they be able to look inside the packaging and see 15 the actual mix comprises of about half of the size of the tin box.

16 53. Thus, Defendants' packaging and advertising of the Product violates various 17 state and federal laws against misbranding, as described herein.

18 Plaintiff Relied on Defendants' Misleading and Deceptive Conduct
19 and Was Injured as a Result

20 54. The types of misrepresentations made, as described herein, were considered
21 by Plaintiff and Class Members (as would be considered by a reasonable consumer)
22 when deciding to purchase the Product.

23 55. Reasonable consumers, including Plaintiff and Class Members, attached
24 importance to whether Defendants' Product was misbranded, i.e., not legally salable, 25 or capable of legal possession, and/or contained non-functional slack-fill.

26 56. Plaintiff and the Class Members did not know, and had no reason to know,
27 that the Product contained non-functional slack-fill.
28

1 57. Defendants' Product packaging was a material factor in Plaintiff and the Class
2 Members' decisions to purchase the Product. Based on Defendants' Product
3 packaging, Plaintiff and the Class Members believed at the time of sale that they
4 were getting more Product than was actually being sold.

5 58. Had Plaintiff known Defendants' packaging was slack-filled, she would not 6 have bought the Product.

7 59. Plaintiff and the Class Members paid the full price of the Product and received
8 less Product than they expected due to the non-functional slack-fill in the Product
9 container.

10 60. Plaintiff wants to purchase the Product again but cannot be certain that 11 Plaintiff would not be misled again in the future unless and until Defendants make 12 appropriate changes to their Product advertising and/or Product containers, as 13 requested herein.

14 61. There is no practical reason for the non-functional slack-fill used to package
15 the Product other than to mislead consumers as to the actual volume of the Product 16 being purchased by consumers.

17 62. As a result of Defendants' misrepresentations, Plaintiff and thousands of 18 others throughout California purchased the Product. Plaintiff and the Class (defined 19 below) have been damaged by Defendants' deceptive and unfair conduct.

20 63. Defendants advertise and sell over 3,500 products under the "365" brand, 21 some of which include but not limited to beverages, vitamins, and grains.¹⁰

22 64. In addition to the Product, Plaintiff would also like to purchase one or more 23 of the products sold by Defendants under the 365 brand, but Plaintiff cannot be 24 certain that such products would not include non-functional slack-fill, particularly 25 when sold in opaque containers.

26
27
28 ¹⁰ See <https://www.wholefoodsmarket.com/departments/365-products>, last accessed on February 11, 2022.

1 65. Upon information and belief, additional products of Defendants in the same
2 product line, i.e., the 365 brand, contain non-functional slack-fill in the product
3 container, including but not limited to Defendant's Long Grain & Wild Rice – Rice
4 Pilaf, 6 oz. (the "Rice Pilaf Product").¹¹

5 66. In January of 2021, Whole Foods was sued in federal court in Illinois for 6 claims of non-functional slack-fill as it concerns its Rice Pilaf Product. See Jacobs
7 v. Whole Foods Marketing Group, Inc., No. 1:22-cv-00002 (N.D. Ill.), filed on 8 January 1, 2022.

9 67. Based on Plaintiff's investigation, through counsel, a box of the Rice Pilaf
10 Product purchased in February 2022, from Mrs. Gooch's store in Newport Beach, 11 California, contains over 50% empty space, including non-functional slack-fill.

12 68. Specifically, the Rice Pilaf Product is packaged in a box that measures about 13 6.75 inches in height, 4.2 inches in length and 1.5 inches wide.

14 69. Since the Rice Pilaf Product is packaged in an opaque box, consumers are 15 unable to see from the exterior packaging how much product is contained within the 16 box to learn before their purchase that it only contains approximately 2.50 inches of 17 actual product (including the seasoning packet).

18 70. Because the Rice Pilaf Product's box does not allow consumers to view its 19 contents, and contains nonfunctional slack-fill, the packaging is misleading to 20 consumers.

21 Upon information and belief, there is no functional reason for including over 50%
22 slack-fill in the Rice Pilaf Product box. The Rice Pilaf Product is in a dry solid form, 23 rendering the empty space unnecessary for function, as the Rice Pilaf Product cannot 24 be easily damaged or lose its shape.

25
26
27
28 ¹¹ For the avoidance of doubt, the present lawsuit brought by Ms. Goodwin does not assert a cause of action against Defendant as it concerns the Rice Pilaf Product.

All persons who purchased one or more of the Product from Whole Foods Market in California or, if purchased remotely (such as online), while present in California, since November 3, 2017 to the present.

73. Plaintiff reserves the right to revise the Class definition based on facts learned in the course of litigating this matter.

75. While the exact number and identities of other Class Members are unknown to Plaintiff at this time, Plaintiff is informed and believes that there are thousands, if not hundreds of thousands, of Members in the Class. Based on sales of the Product, it is estimated that the Class is composed of more than 10,000 persons. The Members of the Class are so numerous that joinder of all Members is impracticable and the disposition of their claims in a class action rather than in individual actions will benefit the parties and the courts.

76. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the Members of the Class as all Members of the Class are similarly affected by Defendants' wrongful conduct, as detailed herein.

1 77. Adequacy: Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the 2 Members of the Class in that she has no interests antagonistic to those of the other
3 Members of the Class. Plaintiff has retained experienced and competent counsel.

4 78. Superiority: A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair
5 and efficient adjudication of this controversy. Since the damages sustained by 6 individual Class Members may be relatively small, the expense and burden of 7 individual litigation makes it impracticable for the Members of the Class to 8 individually seek redress for the wrongful conduct alleged herein. Furthermore, the 9 adjudication of this controversy through a class action will avoid the potentially 10 inconsistent and conflicting adjudications of the claims asserted herein. There will 11 be no difficulty in the management of this action as a class action. If class treatment
12 of these claims were not available, Defendants would likely unfairly receive 13 thousands of dollars or more in improper revenue.

14 79. Common Questions Predominate: Common questions of law and fact exist
15 as to all Members of the Class and predominate over any questions solely affecting 16 individual Members of the Class. Among the common questions of law and fact 17 applicable to the Class are:

- 18 i. Whether Defendants sold the Product in an opaque container;
- 19 ii. Whether Defendants sold the Product in containers containing at least 20 30% empty space;
- 21 iii. Whether Defendants labeled, packaged, marketed, advertised and/or 22 sold the Product to Plaintiff, and those similarly situated, using false, 23 misleading and/or deceptive packaging and labeling;
- 24 iv. Whether Defendants' actions constitute violations of the FDCA, 21
25 U.S.C. §§ 301, et. seq.;
- 26 v. Whether Defendants' actions constitute violations of CFPLA, Cal. Bus.
27 & Prof. Code § 12606.2;
- 28

- 1 vi. Whether Defendants omitted and/or misrepresented material facts in 2 connection with the labeling, packaging, marketing, advertising and/or sale of 3 its Product;
- 4 vi. Whether Defendants' labeling, packaging, marketing, advertising
5 and/or selling of the Product constituted an unfair, unlawful or fraudulent 6 practice;
- 7 vii. Whether Defendants' packaging of the Product constituted
8 nonfunctional slack-fill;
- 9 ix. Whether, and to what extent, injunctive relief should be imposed on 10 Defendants to prevent such conduct in the future;
- 11 x. Whether the Members of the Class have sustained damages as a result 12 of Defendants' wrongful conduct;
- 13 xi. The appropriate measure of damages and/or other relief; and
- 14 xii. Whether Defendants should be enjoined from continuing their unlawful 15 practices.

16 80. The Class is readily definable, and prosecution of this action as a class action
17 will reduce the possibility of repetitious litigation. Plaintiff knows of no difficulty 18 which will be encountered in the management of this litigation which would 19 preclude its maintenance as a class action.

20 81. The prerequisites to maintaining a class action for injunctive relief or 21 equitable relief are met, as Defendants have acted or refused to act on grounds
22 generally applicable to the Class, thereby making appropriate final injunctive or 23 equitable relief with respect to the Class as a whole.

24 82. The prerequisites to maintaining a class action for injunctive relief or 25 equitable relief are also met, as questions of law or fact common to the Class
26 predominate over any questions affecting only individual Members; and a class
27 action is superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently adjudicating
28 the controversy.

83. The prosecution of separate actions by Members of the Class would create a risk of establishing inconsistent rulings and/or incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants. Additionally, individual actions may be dispositive of the interest of all Members of the Class, although certain Class Members are not parties to such actions.

84. Defendants' conduct is generally applicable to the Class as a whole and Plaintiff seeks, inter alia, equitable remedies with respect to the Class as a whole. As such, Defendants' systematic policies and practices make declaratory relief with respect to the Class as a whole appropriate, in particular where Plaintiff alleges that at least two products sold by Mrs. Gooch's under the same 365 brand contain non-functional slack-fill.

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

VIOLATION OF CALIFORNIA'S CONSUMER LEGAL REMEDIES ACT, ("CLRA"), Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1750, et seq.

85. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates herein by reference the allegations contained in all preceding paragraphs, and further alleges as follows:

86. Plaintiff brings this claim individually and on behalf of the Class for Defendants' violations of California's Consumer Legal Remedies Act ("CLRA"), Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1750, et seq.

87. Defendants' actions, representations, and conduct have violated, and continue to violate the CLRA, because they extend to transactions that intended to result, or which have resulted in, the sale of goods to consumers.

88. Plaintiff and the Class Members are consumers who purchased the Product for personal, family or household purposes.

89. Defendant is a "person" as defined by Cal. Civ. Code § 1761(c).

90. Plaintiff and the Class Members are "consumers" as that term is defined by the CLRA in California Civil Code § 1761(d). Plaintiff and the Class Members are

1 not sophisticated experts with independent knowledge of corporate branding,
2 labeling and packaging practices.

3 91. The Product that Plaintiff and other Class Members purchased from 4 Defendants was a “good” within the meaning of California Civil Code § 1761(a).

5 92. Defendants violated federal and California law because the Product is 6 packaged in containers made, formed or filled as to be misleading, as it contains non-
7 functional slack-fill and is intentionally packaged to prevent the consumer from 8 being able to fully see its contents.

9 93. California Civil Code § 1770(a)(5), prohibits “[m]isrepresenting that goods or 10 services have sponsorship, approval, characteristics, ingredients, uses, benefits, or 11 quantities which they do not have or that a person has a sponsorship, approval, status, 12 affiliation, or connection which he or she does not have.”

13 94. By engaging in the conduct set forth herein, Defendants violated and continue
14 to violate the CLRA—specifically, section 1770(a)(5) of the California Civil 15 Code—because Defendants’ conduct constitutes unfair methods of competition and 16 unfair or fraudulent acts or practices, in that it misrepresents that the Product has 17 quantities and ingredients it does not have.

18 95. California Civil Code § 1770(a)(9) further prohibits “[a]dvertising goods or 19 services with intent not to sell them as advertised.”

20 96. By engaging in the conduct set forth herein, Defendants violated and continue
21 to violate section 1770(a)(9), because Defendants’ conduct constitutes unfair
22 methods of competition and unfair or fraudulent acts or practices, in that it advertises
23 a good as containing more Product and ingredients than it in fact contains.

24 97. Plaintiff and the Class Members are not sophisticated experts about corporate 25 branding, labeling and packaging practices. Plaintiff and the Class acted reasonably 26 when they purchased the Product based on their belief that Defendants’
27 representations were true and lawful.

1 98. Plaintiff and the Class suffered injuries caused by Defendants because (a) they
2 would not have purchased the Product on the same terms absent Defendants' illegal 3 and misleading conduct as set forth herein; (b) they paid a price premium for the 4 Product due to Defendants' misrepresentations and deceptive packaging in 5 containers made, formed or filled as to be misleading and containing non-functional
6 slack-fill; and (c) the Product did not have the quantities and ingredients as promised.

7 99. Plaintiff and Class members reasonably relied upon Defendants'
8 representations regarding Defendants' Product, and Plaintiff and the Class
9 reasonably expected that the Product would not be illegally labeled in a misleading
10 manner. Thus, Plaintiff and the Class reasonably relied to their detriment on 11 Defendants' misleading representations.

12 100. Defendants knew or should have known that its representations about their 13 Product as described herein violated state and federal consumer protection laws, and 14 that these statements would be relied upon by Plaintiffs and Class members.

15 101. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' violations of Cal. Civ. Code
16 §§ 1750, et seq., Plaintiff and each Class member have suffered harm in the form of 17 paying monies to Defendants for the Product when they otherwise would not have 18 paid for it if they knew it was illegally labeled and contained significantly less 19 product that the packaging lead them to believe.

20 102. Pursuant to California Civil Code § 1782(a), on or about July 1, 2021 Plaintiff
21 sent Defendants, through their parent corporation Whole Foods Market Inc., 22 individually and on behalf of the proposed Class, a letter via Certified Mail, advising
23 of the violations of the CLRA alleged herein, and demanding that they cease and 24 desist from such violations and make full restitution by refunding the monies 25 received therefrom.

26 103. On August 10, 2021, Plaintiff sent a second demand letter, via Certified Mail,
27 to Defendants' parent corporation Whole Foods Market Inc., pursuant to California
28 Civil Code § 1782(a), again advising of the alleged violations of the CLRA and

1 demanding that they cease and desist from such violations and make full restitution
2 to Plaintiff and Class Members

3 104. Defendants were adequately put on notice of Plaintiff's July 1, 2021 and 4 August 10, 2021 notice of violation and demand for corrective action pursuant to 5 California Civil Code § 1782(a). Indeed, these two demand letters were sent via 6 Certified mail to Whole Foods Market Inc.'s registered agent for service of process
7 in Texas as well as its corporate headquarters in Austin, Texas. Defendants are 8 California corporate subsidiaries of Whole Foods Market Inc.

9 105. In compliance with California Civil Code § 1782(a), Plaintiff also served
10 these July 2021 and August 2021 demand letters, via Certified Mail, to the "place
11 where the transaction occurred" (i.e. the Whole Foods Market physical retail store
12 located in Valencia, California). See California Civil Code § 1782(a). Plaintiff's
13 August 10, 2021, notice of violation and demand for corrective action pursuant to 14 California Civil Code § 1782(a) was delivered to this Valencia, California store
15 location where Plaintiff purchased the Product on or about August 31, 2021.

16 106. Defendants failed, within 30 days of receipt of Plaintiff's demands, to provide 17 Plaintiff with an appropriate correction, repair, replacement, or other remedy, and 18 have offered no relief or cure for the Class Members. In fact, Defendants have not 19 provided any response to Plaintiff's CLRA demands.

20 107. Under Cal. Civ. Code § 1780(a) and (b), Plaintiff and the putative Classes are 21 entitled to, and seek, public injunctive relief prohibiting such conduct in the future.

22 108. Pursuant to § 1782 (e), Plaintiff and the Class assert claims for damages and 23 attorneys' fees and costs.

24 Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a sworn declaration from Plaintiff pursuant to Cal.
25 Civ. Code § 1780(d).

1
2 SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

3 VIOLATION OF CALIFORNIA'S UNFAIR COMPETITION LAW,
4 ("UCL"), California Business & Professions Code §§ 17200, *et seq.

5 109. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates herein by reference the allegations
6 contained in all preceding paragraphs, and further alleges as follows:

7 110. Plaintiff brings this claim individually and on behalf of the Members of the 8 Class for Defendants' violations of California's Unfair Competition Law, Cal. Bus.
9 & Prof. Code §§ 17200, et seq.

10 111. The UCL provides, in pertinent part: "Unfair competition shall mean and 11 include unlawful, unfair or fraudulent business practices and unfair, deceptive, 12 untrue or misleading advertising . . ."

13 112. Defendants violated federal and California law because their Product is 14 packaged in containers made, formed or filled as to be misleading, as it contains non-15 functional slack-fill, does not include ingredients depicted on the packaging, and is 16 intentionally packaged to prevent the consumer from being able to fully see its 17 contents.

18 A. "Unlawful" Prong

19 113. Defendants' business practices, described herein, violated the "unlawful"
20 prong of the UCL by violating section 352 of the FDCA, 21 U.S.C. § 301, the CLRA,
21 California Business & Professions Code § 12606 (CFPLA), California Health &
22 Safety Code § 110690, the CLRA, and other applicable law as described herein.

23 114. Defendants violated the FDCA and CFPLA, in that Defendants packaged their 24 Product in non-conforming type containers by using non-functional slack fill. Said 25 non-conforming packages contained extra space by volume in the interior of the 26 container. The extra space provided no benefit to the contents of the packaging and 27 misled consumers. In addition, Defendants packaged their Product in containers
28

1 made, formed, or filled as to be misleading to a potential customer as to the actual
2 size and filling of the package with Defendants' Product.

3 115. In addition, Defendants violated the CLRA by representing that Plaintiffs and 4 Class members were receiving a Product that was correctly filled, when in fact
5 Defendants were selling their Products using illegal and misleading packaging.

6 116. Defendants had other reasonably available alternatives to further its business
7 interests, other than the unlawful conduct described herein, such as appropriately
8 labeling its Product.

9 117. Instead, Defendants deliberately and illegally misled consumers for 10 Defendants' own economic gain.

11 118. Plaintiff and Class members reserve the right to allege other violations of law, 12 which constitute other unlawful business practices or acts, as such conduct is 13 ongoing and continues to this date.

14 B. "Unfair" Prong

15 119. Defendants' business practices, described herein, violated the "unfair" prong
16 of the UCL in that its conduct is substantially injurious to consumers, offends public 17 policy, and is immoral, unethical, oppressive, and unscrupulous, as the gravity of the 18 conduct outweighs any alleged benefits. Defendants' advertising is of no benefit to 19 consumers.

20 120. Without limitation, it is an unfair business act or practice for Defendants to 21 knowingly mislabel their Product leading consumers to believing they are getting 22 more Product than actually contained in the packaging. Plaintiff could not have 23 reasonably avoided the injury suffered.

24 121. Plaintiff reserves the right to allege further conduct that constitutes other 25 unfair business acts or practices.

26 C. "Fraudulent" Prong

27 122. Defendants violated the "fraudulent" prong of the UCL by misleading 28 Plaintiff and the Class to believe that the Product contained more content and

1 ingredients than it actually contained, and that such packaging and labeling practices
2 were lawful, true and not intended to deceive or mislead consumers.

3 123. Plaintiff and the Class Members are not sophisticated experts about the 4 corporate branding, labeling, and packaging practices of the Product. Plaintiff and 5 the Class acted reasonably when they purchased the Product based on their belief
6 that Defendants' representations were true and lawful.

7 124. Plaintiff and the Class lost money or property as a result of Defendants' UCL
8 violations because (a) they would not have purchased the Product on the same terms
9 absent Defendants' illegal conduct as set forth herein, or if the true facts were known 10 concerning Defendants' representations; (b) they paid a price premium for the 11 Product due to Defendants' misrepresentations; and (c) the Product did not have the 12 quantities and ingredients as represented.

13 125. The conduct of Defendants as set forth above demonstrates the necessity for 14 granting injunctive relief restraining such and similar acts of unfair competition 15 pursuant to California Business and Professions Code. Unless enjoined and 16 restrained by order of the court, Defendants will retain the ability to, and may engage 17 in, said acts of unfair competition, and misleading advertising. As a result, Plaintiff
18 and the Class are entitled to injunctive and monetary relief.

19 20 THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

21 VIOLATION OF CALIFORNIA'S FALSE ADVERTISING LAW, ("FAL"), 22 California Business & Professions Code §§ 17500, *et seq.

23 126. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates herein by reference the allegations
24 contained in all preceding paragraphs, and further alleges as follows:

25 127. Plaintiff brings this claim individually and on behalf of the Members of the 26 Class for Defendants' violations of California's False Advertising Law ("FAL"), 27 California Business & Professions Code §§ 17500, et seq.
28

1 128. Under the FAL, the State of California makes it “unlawful for any person to 2 make or disseminate or cause to be made or disseminated before the public in this 3 state ... in any advertising device . . . or in any other manner or means whatever,
4 including over the Internet, any statement, concerning . . . personal property or 5 services, professional or otherwise, or performance or disposition thereof, which is 6 untrue or misleading and which is known, or which by the exercise of reasonable 7 care should be known, to be untrue or misleading.”

8 129. Defendants engaged in a scheme of offering a misbranded Product for sale to 9 Plaintiff and the Class Members by way of packaging the Product in containers
10 made, formed or filled as to be misleading and which contained non-functional 11 slack-fill.

12 130. Such practice misrepresented the content and quantity of the misbranded 13 Product. Defendants’ advertisements were made in California and come within the 14 definition of advertising as contained in California Business & Professions Code §§
15 17500, et seq. in that the product packaging was intended as inducements to purchase
16 Defendants’ Product. Defendants knew their conduct was unauthorized, inaccurate, 17 and misleading.

18 131. Defendants violated federal and California law because the Product is 19 packaged in containers made, formed or filled as to be misleading, as the Product 20 contains non-functional slack-fill, does not include ingredients depicted on the 21 packaging, and is intentionally packaged to prevent the consumer from being able 22 to fully see its contents.

23 132. Defendants violated section 17500, et seq. by misleading Plaintiff and the 24 Class to believe that the Product packaging contains more Product and ingredients
25 than it in fact contains, as described herein.

26 133. Defendants knew or should have known, through the exercise of reasonable 27 care that the Product was and continues to be misbranded, and that their 28

1 representations about the quantities and ingredients of the Product were untrue and 2 misleading.

3 134. Plaintiff and the Class Members lost money or property as a result of 4 Defendant's FAL violations because (a) they would not have purchased the Product
5 on the same terms absent Defendants' illegal conduct as set forth herein, or if the 6 true facts were known concerning Defendants' representations; (b) they paid a price
7 premium for the Product due to Defendants' misrepresentations; and (c) the Product 8 did not have the ingredients, or quantities as promised, and as a result the class is 9 entitled to monetary and injunctive relief.

10
11 FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
NEGLIGENT MISREPRESENTATION

12 135. Plaintiff repeats and realleges each and every allegation contained above as if 13 fully set forth herein, and further alleges as follows:

14 136. Defendants, directly or through their agents and employees, made false 15 representations, concealments and non-disclosures to Plaintiff and Members of the 16 Class.

17 137. Defendants as the manufacturers, packagers, labelers and initial sellers of the 18 Product purchased by Plaintiff and Class Members had a duty to disclose the true
19 quantity and ingredients of the Product and to refrain from selling it in containers
20 made, formed or filled as to be misleading and which contain non-functional slack-
21 fill and do not include ingredients depicted on the packaging.

22 138. Defendants had exclusive knowledge of material facts not known or 23 reasonably accessible to Plaintiff and Class Members; Defendants actively 24 concealed material facts from Plaintiff and Class Members; and Defendants made 25 partial representations that are misleading because some other material fact has not 26 been disclosed.

27 139. Defendants' failure to disclose the information it had a duty to disclose 28 constitutes material misrepresentations and materially misleading omissions which

1 misled Plaintiff and Class Members, who relied on Defendants in this regard to 2 disclose all material facts accurately, truthfully and fully.

3 140. Plaintiff and Members of the Class reasonably relied on Defendants'
4 representation that the Product contains more Product and ingredients than actually 5 packaged.

6 141. In making the representations of fact to Plaintiff and Members of the Class
7 described herein, Defendants have failed to fulfill its duties to disclose the material
8 facts set forth above. The direct and proximate cause of this failure to disclose was 9 Defendants' negligence and carelessness.

10 142. Defendants, in making the misrepresentations and omissions, and in engaging 11 in the acts alleged above, knew or reasonably should have known that the 12 representations were not true. Defendants made and intended the misrepresentations
13 to induce the reliance of Plaintiff and Members of the Class.

14 143. As the manufacturer of its Product, Defendants are in the unique position of 15 being able to provide accurate information about their Product. Therefore, there is 16 a special and privity-like relationship between Defendants and Plaintiff and other 17 consumers.

18 144. Defendants have a duty to correct the misinformation it disseminated through 19 their advertising of the Product. By not informing Plaintiff and Members of the 20 Class, Defendant breached its duty. Defendant also gained financially from and as 21 a result of this breach.

22 145. By and through such deceit, misrepresentations and/or omissions, Defendants 23 intended to induce Plaintiff and Members of the Class to alter their position to their 24 detriment. Plaintiff and Members of the Class relied upon these false representations
25 when purchasing the Product in over-sized containers depicting ingredients not 26 included in the Product, which reliance was justified and reasonably foreseeable.

27 146. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' wrongful conduct, Plaintiff
28 and Members of the Class have suffered and continue to suffer economic losses and

1 other general and specific damages, including but not limited to the amounts paid
2 for the Product, and any interest that would have been accrued on those monies, all
3 in an amount to be determined according to proof at time of trial.

4 147. Defendants acted with intent to defraud, or with reckless or negligent
5 disregard of the rights of Plaintiff and Members of the Class.

6 148. Plaintiff and Members of the Class are entitled to relief in an amount to be 7 proven at trial, and injunctive relief.

8 PRAYER FOR RELIEF

9 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for relief and judgment against Defendants, and each 10 of them, as follows:

- 11 • For an Order certifying the Class and appointing Plaintiff as class
12 representative, and designating Plaintiff's counsel as counsel for the Class;
- 13 • For an Order declaring that Defendants' conduct violated the CLRA,
14 California Civil Code §§ 1750, et seq., and awarding (i) injunctive relief, (ii)
15 costs of suit, and (iii) reasonable attorneys' fees;
- 16 • For an Order declaring that Defendants' conduct violated California's Unfair
17 Competition Law, California Business & Professions Code §§ 17200, et seq.;
18 and California's False Advertising Law, California Business & Professions
19 Code §§ 17500, et seq.; and awarding (i) injunctive relief, (ii) actual damages,
20 (iii) prejudgment and post judgment interest; (iv) exemplary and/or punitive
21 damages pursuant to California Civil Code § 3294, (v) costs of suit, and (iv)
22 reasonable attorneys' fees pursuant to, inter alia, California Code of Civil 23 Procedure § 1021.5;
- 24 • An Order compelling Defendants to recall and destroy all misleading and 25 deceptive advertising materials, including through public injunctive relief;
- 26 • For an Order requiring Defendants to disgorge all monies, revenues, and 27 profits obtained by means of any wrongful act or practice;

- For an order requiring imposition of a constructive trust and and/or disgorgement of Defendants' ill-gotten gains and to pay restitution to Plaintiff and all members of the Class and to restore to Plaintiff and members of the Class all funds acquired by means of any act or practice declared by this court to be an unlawful, fraudulent, or unfair business act or practice, in violation of laws, statutes or regulations, or constituting unfair competition, plus pre- and post-judgment interest thereon;
- For an Order finding that Defendants made Negligent Misrepresentations, and awarding special, general, and compensatory damages to Plaintiff and the Class;
- For pre and post-judgment interest on all amounts awarded;
- For actual damages, injunctive relief, restitution, and punitive damages pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure § 1780;
- For an order of restitution and all other forms of equitable monetary relief, as pleaded;
- For public injunctive relief as pleaded or as the Court may deem proper;
- For an Order awarding Plaintiff and the Class their reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses and costs of suit as pleaded; and
- For such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

DEMAND FOR TRIAL BY JURY

Plaintiff, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated, hereby demands a jury trial on all claims so triable.
