HESNEY, ELIZABETH CHAKAN, and DAVID POLLAK, Individually and on Behalf of all Others Similarly

Plaintiffs,

vs.

EQUIFAX, INC,

Defendant.

Civil Action No. _____

COMPLAINT

CLASS ACTION

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

Plaintiffs Michael Gottesman, Solomon Hesney, Elizabeth Chakan, and David Pollak (“Plaintiffs”), by and through their undersigned counsel, submit this Complaint on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated. Plaintiffs’ allegations are based upon their personal knowledge as to themselves and their own acts, and upon information and belief, developed from the investigation and analysis by Plaintiffs’ counsel, including a review of publicly available information.

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. Defendant Equifax, Inc. (“Equifax” or the “Company”) is a global information solutions company that uses trusted unique data, analytics, technology and industry expertise to service and inform businesses, governments and consumers around the world with attained knowledge and insight, including consumer credit reports, allowing them to make more informed business and personal decisions. The Company organizes, assimilates and analyzes data on more than 820 million consumers and more than 91 million businesses worldwide, and its database includes employee data contributed from more than 7,100 employers.

2. Equifax's products and services are based on databases of consumer and business information derived from various sources, including credit, financial assets, telecommunications and utility payments, employment, income, demographic and marketing data.

3. As part of its business, Equifax collects, stores and transmits its Class members' personal and proprietary information in their facilities and on its equipment, networks and corporate systems. Equifax represents to businesses, governments and consumers that the security and protection of the information in their possession is the Company's responsibility which it takes very seriously.¹

4. On July 29, 2017, however, Equifax discovered that it had failed in that responsibility. From mid-May through July 2017, criminals exploited an Equifax U.S. website application vulnerability gaining unauthorized access to certain files.² The accessed files included personal consumer information, such as names, Social Security numbers, birth dates, addresses, and in some instances, driver's license numbers ("Personal Information").³ In addition, the accessed files also included credit card numbers for approximately 209,000 consumers and certain dispute documents, which included personal identifying information, for approximately 182,000 consumers were accessed (which are also included in the definition of "Personal Information" herein).⁴

5. The September 7, 2017 Equifax press release provided the following information regarding this cybersecurity incident involving unauthorized access to certain consumer information (the "Breach"):

Equifax Inc. (NYSE: EFX) today announced a cybersecurity incident potentially impacting approximately 143 million U.S. consumers. Criminals exploited a U.S. website application vulnerability to gain access to certain files. Based on the company's investigation, the unauthorized access occurred from mid-May through July 2017. The company has found no evidence of unauthorized activity on Equifax's core consumer or commercial credit reporting databases.

The information accessed primarily includes names, Social Security numbers, birth dates, addresses and, in some instances, driver's license numbers. In addition, credit card numbers for approximately 209,000 U.S.

consumers, and certain dispute documents with personal identifying information for approximately 182,000 U.S. consumers, were accessed. . . .

Equifax discovered the unauthorized access on July 29 of this year and acted immediately to stop the intrusion. The company promptly engaged a leading, independent cybersecurity firm that has been conducting a comprehensive forensic review to determine the scope of the intrusion, including the specific data impacted. Equifax also reported the criminal access to law enforcement and continues to work with authorities. While the company's investigation is substantially complete, it remains ongoing and is expected to be completed in the coming weeks.

“This is clearly a disappointing event for our company, and one that strikes at the heart of who we are and what we do. I apologize to consumers and our business customers for the concern and frustration this causes,” said Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Richard F. Smith. “We pride ourselves on being a leader in managing and protecting data, and we are conducting a thorough review of our overall security operations. We also are focused on consumer protection and have developed a comprehensive portfolio of services to support all U.S. consumers, regardless of whether they were impacted by this incident.”

Equifax has established a dedicated website, www.equifaxsecurity2017.com, to help consumers determine if their information has been potentially impacted and to sign up for credit file monitoring and identity theft protection. The offering, called TrustedID Premier, includes 3-Bureau credit monitoring of Equifax, Experian and TransUnion credit reports; copies of Equifax credit reports; the ability to lock and unlock Equifax credit reports; identity theft insurance; and Internet scanning for Social Security numbers - all complimentary to U.S. consumers for one year. The website also provides additional information on steps consumers can take to protect their personal information. Equifax recommends that consumers with additional questions visit www.equifaxsecurity2017.com or contact a dedicated call center at 866-447-7559, which the company set up to assist consumers. The call center is open every day (including weekends) from 7:00 a.m. - 1:00 a.m. Eastern time.

6. Plaintiffs and other members of the Class and Subclasses, set forth below, face multiple and severe damages from such unauthorized access to their private Personal Information, including, but not limited to, the prospect of identity theft, illegal loss of their financial information, and improper access to credit card funds. They are now forced to incur out-of-pocket expenses and take the required steps necessary to protect themselves from the prospect of identity theft and other crimes which could be perpetrated against them with the use of their private Personal Information. In some cases, they may even need to take steps to remediate harm caused by criminals behind the Breach and resecure their identity and financial holdings.

7. Plaintiffs bring this class action against Equifax for its failure to adequately secure and protect the Personal Information of the Class and for failing to timely notify the Class that the security and confidentiality of their Personal Information stored on Equifax's computer system was compromised. Plaintiffs seek to recover damages caused to them and the Class and Subclasses by Equifax's violations of law, including state data breach statutes. Plaintiffs also seek injunctive relief requiring Equifax to properly safeguard the Class's Personal Information on its computer system or alternatively, remove such Personal Information from its computer system.

12. Defendant Equifax is organized under the laws of the state of Georgia and maintains its principal executive offices at 1550 Peachtree Street, N.W., Atlanta, Georgia 30309. In public filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, Equifax describes its business as “a leading global provider of information solutions, employment and income verifications and human resources business process outsourcing services” that “leverage[s] some of the largest sources of consumer and commercial data, along with advanced analytics and proprietary technology, to create customized insights which enable our business customers to grow faster, more efficiently and more profitably, and to inform and empower consumers.”

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

13. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action pursuant to the Class Action Fairness Act, 28 U.S.C. §1332(d)(2), because the amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and Plaintiffs and defendant Equifax are citizens of different states. The proposed Class and Subclasses each include well over 100 members.

14. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Equifax because the Company maintains its principal place of business in this District in Atlanta; regularly conducts business in Georgia; and has sufficient minimum contacts in Georgia. Equifax intentionally avails itself of this jurisdiction by marketing and selling products from Georgia to millions of consumers nationwide, including in the states of Ohio, New Jersey, and New York.

15. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1391 because Equifax is a resident of this District and is subject to this Court’s personal jurisdiction. Equifax is incorporated in Georgia, regularly conducts business in this District, and maintains its headquarters in this District. In addition, the causes of action arose, in substantial part, in this District.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

16. Plaintiffs Gottesman, Hesney, Chakan, and Pollak are among the hundreds of millions of American consumers who have applied for a loan or credit card, ordered a credit report or their own use, or had their credit pulled for one reason or another. As a credit reporting agency, Equifax has therefore, in the course of their lives, compiled plaintiffs' sensitive and confidential Personal Information, including their social security numbers, birth dates, addresses, driver's license numbers and/or credit card numbers.

17. Equifax collected and stored Plaintiffs' Personal Information on its computer system, and used that information for its business activities and services for purposes of its own corporate profit.

18. Equifax owed a legal duty to Plaintiffs Gottesman, Hesney, Chakan, and Pollak and all other U.S. consumers to use reasonable care to protect their credit and Personal Information from unauthorized access and/or acquisition by third parties. Equifax knew that failure to take the necessary cyber security measures to protect consumer credit and Personal Information from unauthorized access would cause serious risks of financial and credit harm and identify theft those consumers for years to come.

19. Despite this duty, Equifax negligently failed to maintain adequate technological and cyber security safeguards to protect the Personal Information of Plaintiffs and U.S. consumers from unauthorized access by hackers.

20. Equifax knew and should have known that failure to maintain adequate technological safeguards would eventually result in a massive data breach. Equifax could have and should have substantially increased the amount of money it spent to protect against cyber-attacks and other security breaches but chose not to in order to increase corporate profits.

21. Plaintiffs and members of the Class and Subclasses should not have to bear the expense caused by Equifax's negligent failure to properly safeguard their credit and Personal Information from cyber-attackers.

22. As a direct result of Equifax's negligence as alleged in this complaint, Plaintiffs and members of the Class and Subclasses now suffer serious risks of financial and credit harm and identify theft, and may do so for years to come.

23. Plaintiffs and members of the Class and Subclasses may also be required to expend out-of-pocket expenses for years to come in order to properly monitor their credit and financial property to ensure that no credit or financial wrongdoings or crimes of identity theft will be perpetrated against them.

24. Although Equifax discovered the Breach on July 29, 2017, the Company failed to disclose the Breach until September 7, 2017, approximately forty days later. Yet, in the interim, three executives of Equifax, including its Chief Financial Officer, were knowledgeable and opportunistic enough to take advantage of the Company's withholding of information regarding the Breach by selling a total of $2 million of Equifax stock in early August 2017.⁵

25. Even when it finally publically released the information, Equifax's disclosure of the Breach and notice to consumers was woefully deficient and inadequate. In particular, Equifax represented that its website would "indicate whether your personal information may have been impacted by this incident." After providing the required information, the consumer's last name and last six digits of his or her social security number, the website then only offered impacted consumers a statement noting that "[b]ased on the information provided, we believe that your personal information may have been impacted by this incident." (Emphasis added.) No particulars as to what precise Personal Information of the consumer may have been compromised and the particular risk that posed is provided. Moreover, consumers choosing to contact Equifax by phone to verify whether the Breach had impacted their Personal Information were simply advised to refer to the website, thereby leaving those without a secure internet connection unable to understand the status of their potentially compromised Personal Information. The Company also represented that it will provide affected consumers with an “option” to enroll in TrustedID Premier, a credit monitoring and identity theft protection service. However, many consumers who opted for this service have received a message that the user can only be enrolled in TrustedID Premier at a later date. In the days following the Company’s notification regarding the Breach, it initially appeared that consumers who accepted the credit monitoring service offered by Equifax were initially forced to click through a statement inferring that an arbitration clause and class action waiver was attached to the TrustedID Service enrollment. Since then, and after the New York Attorney General Eric Schneiderman announced an investigation and was publically critical of the class action waiver, Equifax clarified that consumers accepting services will not waive their consumer rights to a class action with regards to the cybersecurity incident that affected them.⁶

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

26. Plaintiffs bring this class action and Counts I, II, III set forth below for negligence, unjust enrichment, and declaratory judgment pursuant to the

⁶ <https://www.cnbc.com/2017/09/08/new-york-attorney-general-launches-investigation-into-equifax-breach.html>

Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 23(a) and (b)(3), on behalf of themselves and a nationwide class of all others similarly situated in the United States.

The class is defined as follows:

Nationwide Class:

All residents of the United States whose Personal Information was compromised as a result of the data breach first disclosed by Equifax on September 7, 2017 (the “Class”).

27. Pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 23, Plaintiff Gottesman also brings Count IV set forth below on behalf of himself and an Ohio subclass of all others in Ohio similarly situated.

The Ohio subclass is defined as follows:

Ohio Statewide Class:

All residents of Ohio whose Personal Information was compromised as a result of the data breach first disclosed by Equifax on September 7, 2017 (the “Ohio Subclass”).

28. Pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 23, Plaintiff Hesney also brings Count V set forth below on behalf of himself and a New Jersey subclass of all others in New Jersey similarly situated.

The New Jersey subclass is defined as follows:

New Jersey Statewide Class:

All residents of New Jersey whose Personal Information was compromised as a result of the data breach first disclosed by Equifax on September 7, 2017 (the “New Jersey Subclass”).

29. Pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 23, Plaintiffs Chakan and Pollak also bring Count VI set forth below on behalf of themselves and a New York subclass of all others in New York similarly situated.

The New York subclass is defined as follows:

New York Statewide Class:

All residents of New York whose Personal Information was compromised as a result of the data breach first disclosed by Equifax on September 7, 2017 (the “New York Subclass”).

30. Excluded from the Class and Ohio, New Jersey, and New York subclasses (collectively, the “Subclasses”) is Equifax and its parent or subsidiary companies, any entities in which it has a controlling interest, as well as its officers, directors, affiliates, heirs, predecessors, successors, assigns, legal representatives, agents, and employees. Also excluded are any Judge to whom this case is assigned as well as his or her judicial staff and immediate family members.

31. Each of the proposed classes meet the criteria for certification under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(a), (b)(2), and (b)(3):

32. Numerosity. The proposed Class and Subclasses consist of potentially millions of persons whose data was compromised in the breach. While the precise number of members of the Class and Subclasses and the identities of individual members of the Class and Subclass are unknown to Plaintiffs’ counsel at this time, and can only be ascertained through appropriate discovery, the massive size of the breach as well as the reported 143 million persons for whom Equifax collected Personal Information who may have been adversely affected, indicates that the membership of the Class and Subclass are each so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable.

33. Commonality. Equifax's wrongful conduct affected all members of the Class and Subclasses in exactly the same way. Equifax's failure to properly safeguard the Class's Personal Information is completely uniform among the Class and Subclasses.

34. Questions of law and fact common to all members of the Class and Subclasses exist and predominate over any questions affecting only individual members. Such common questions of law and fact include:

- a. Whether Equifax engaged in the conduct alleged herein;
- b. Whether Equifax's actions constituted unfair methods of competition and unfair, deceptive, fraudulent, unconscionable trade practices actionable under Ohio, New Jersey, and New York consumer fraud statutes;
- c. Whether Equifax owed a duty to members of the Class and Subclasses to protect their Personal Information;

- d. Whether Equifax acted wrongfully and/or breached its legal duties by failing to properly secure and safeguard the Personal Information of members of the Class and Subclasses stored on in its computer system;
- e. Whether Equifax had a legal duty to provide timely and accurate notice of the breach to Plaintiffs and Class members;
- f. Whether Equifax breached its legal duty to provide timely and accurate notice of the breach to Plaintiffs and Class members;
- g. Whether and when Equifax knew or should have known that its computer system were vulnerable to attack; and
- h. Whether the Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class and Subclasses have been damaged by Equifax's breach of its legal duties, and, if so, what is the appropriate relief.

35. Typicality. The Plaintiffs' claims, as described herein, are typical of the claims of all other members of the Class and Subclasses, as the Plaintiffs and all other members of the Class and Subclasses were injured through Equifax's uniform misconduct and the legal claims arise from the same set of facts regarding the Defendant's failure to protect the Class and Subclasses member's Personal Information. The Plaintiffs maintain no interest antagonistic to the interests of other members of the Class or Subclasses.

36. Adequacy. Plaintiffs are committed to the vigorous prosecution of this action and have retained competent counsel experienced in the prosecution of class actions of this type. Moreover, Plaintiffs interests do not conflict with the interests of the members of the Class and Subclasses whom they seek to represent. Accordingly, the Plaintiffs are adequate representatives of the Class and Subclasses and will fairly and adequately protect their interests.

37. Superiority. A class action is superior to all other available methods of fairly and efficiently adjudicating the claims of the Plaintiffs and the Class and Subclasses for the following reasons:

- a. common questions of law and fact predominate over any question affecting any individual members of the Class and Subclasses;
- b. the injury sustained by each member of the Class and/or Subclasses, while meaningful on an individual basis, is not of such magnitude that it is economically feasible to prosecute individual actions against Equifax;
- c. even if it were economically feasible, the prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Class and Subclasses would likely impose a crushing burden on the court system and create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications with respect to individual members, while, in contrast, class treatment will present far fewer management difficulties and provide the benefits of a single adjudication, economies of scale, and comprehensive supervision by a single court;

- d. the proposed Class and Subclasses are well defined and all members of the Class and Subclasses are readily ascertainable, as Equifax has access to their identifying Personal Information, including, but not limited to, names, addresses, and/or other contact information which can be used to identify and contact members of the Class and Subclasses;
- e. this forum is appropriate for litigation of this action since a substantial portion of the transactions, acts, events, and omissions alleged herein occurred in this District; and
- f. prosecution as a class action will eliminate the possibility of repetitious litigation, while also providing redress for claims that may be too small to support the expense of individual, complex litigation.

38. For these reasons, a class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy.

COUNTS

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

Negligence

39. Plaintiffs incorporate and re-allege the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

40. Equifax owed a duty to exercise reasonable care in obtaining, retaining, securing, safeguarding, deleting and protecting Personal Information in its possession from being compromised, lost, stolen, accessed and misused by unauthorized persons. This duty included, among other things, designing, maintaining, and testing Equifax's computer network security systems, along with the use of reasonable and adequate security procedures and systems consistent with industry standard practices, to ensure that Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class' Personal Information in Equifax's possession were adequately secured and protected. Equifax further owed a duty to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class to implement processes that would timely detect a breach of its computer security and to prevent mass exports of Personal Information out of Equifax's computer network.

41. Equifax owed a duty of care to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class because there was a reasonable expectation that Equifax would keep that information secure and confidential. Equifax solicited, gathered, and stored the Personal Information for its own business purposes, and, in the absence of negligence, would have known that by holding massive amounts of Personal Information it was an attractive target for hackers, and that proper security measures were necessary to prevent a breach of its computer security systems and the stealing of personal data which would damage Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class. Because members of the Class were foreseeable and probable victims of any inadequate information security practices, Equifax had a duty to adequately protect such the Class's Personal Information from hackers.

42. Equifax also owed a duty to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class to implement processes to quickly detect a data breach and to timely act on warnings about data breaches.

43. In the case of a data breach, Equifax owed a duty to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class to timely and accurately disclose that their Personal Information had been improperly acquired or accessed so that Plaintiffs and members of the Class could take immediate action to mitigate the risk and damage caused by such a data breach.

44. Plaintiffs and other members of the Class relied on Equifax to safeguard their Personal Information that it collected, used and stored and was in a unique position to (and capable of) protecting against the harm caused to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class as a result of the Breach.

45. Equifax's conduct created a foreseeable risk of harm to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class. Equifax's misconduct included, but was not limited to, its failure to take the steps and opportunities to effectively encrypt, and then to prevent and stop the Breach, and to timely detect and disclose the Breach as set forth herein.

46. Equifax breached the duties it owed to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class by failing to exercise reasonable care and implement adequate security systems, protocols and practices sufficient to protect the Personal Information of Plaintiffs the members of the Class.

47. Equifax breached the duties it owed to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class by failing to properly implement technical systems or security practices that could have prevented the loss of the confidential data at issue.

48. Equifax breached the duties it owed to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class to timely and accurately disclose that their Personal Information had been improperly acquired or accessed during the course of the breach so that Plaintiffs and members of the Class could take immediate action to mitigate the risk and damage caused by such a data breach.

49. As a direct and proximate result of Equifax's conduct, Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class were injured by Equifax's breach of these duties and suffered damages including, but not limited to, loss of control of their Personal Information, an added burden and cost of heightened monitoring for signs for identity theft and for undertaking actions such as credit freezes and alerts to prevent identity theft, and remediating acts and damages caused by identity theft, the inability to properly monitor their personal credit, financial assets, and identity from improper use and identity theft until approximately forty days following the Breach, and other economic damages.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

Unjust Enrichment

50. Plaintiffs incorporate and re-allege the allegations contained in the preceding and subsequent paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

51. Plaintiffs and members of the Class or, alternatively, the Subclasses (collectively, the "Class" as used in this Count), had their Personal Information collected and used by Equifax as part of the business services and/or products. The use of their Personal Information conferred a monetary benefit on Equifax.

52. Equifax knew that the use of Plaintiffs' and the Class's information conferred a benefit on Equifax, and it thereby profited by using their Personal Information for its own business purposes.

53. Equifax failed to secure the Plaintiffs' and Class members' Personal Information, and acquired the Personal Information through inequitable means because it failed to disclose the inadequate security practices previously alleged.

54. Had Plaintiffs and Class members known that Equifax would not secure their Personal Information using adequate security, they would have requested Equifax destroy or not retain such information.

55. Plaintiffs and the Class have no adequate remedy at law.

56. Under the circumstances, it would be unjust for Equifax to be permitted to retain any of the benefits that Plaintiffs and Class members' Personal Information conferred on it, particularly given the inequitable and fraudulent pretenses under which it was attained.

57. Equifax should be compelled to disgorge into a common fund or constructive trust for the benefit of the proceeds it received from processing and selling Plaintiffs and Class members' Personal Information.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

Declaratory Judgment

58. Plaintiffs incorporate and re-allege the allegations contained in the preceding and subsequent paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

59. Equifax owed duties of care to Plaintiffs and the members of the Class or, alternatively, the Subclasses that require it to adequately secure Personal Information.

60. Equifax still possesses Personal Information of the Plaintiffs and members of the Class.

61. After the Breach, Equifax announced changes that it claimed would improve data security. These changes, however, did not fix many systemic vulnerabilities in Equifax's computer systems. A "FAQ" posted to <https://www.equifaxsecurity2017.com/frequently-asked-questions/> states that "to prevent this from happening again" Equifax has "engaged a leading, independent cybersecurity firm to conduct an assessment and provide recommendations on steps that can be taken to help prevent this type of incident from happening again."

62. Accordingly, Equifax still has not satisfied its obligations and legal duties to Plaintiffs and the Class members.

63. Actual harm has arisen in the wake of the breach and Equifax's failure to properly provide security measures to Plaintiffs and the members of the Class and Subclasses. Equifax does not maintain that its security measures now are adequate to meet Equifax's legal duties.

64. Plaintiffs, therefore, seek a declaration (a) that Equifax's existing security measures do not comply with its legal duties to provide adequate security, and (b) that to comply with its obligations and duties of care, Equifax must implement and maintain reasonable security measures, including, but not limited to: (1) ordering that Equifax engage third-party security auditors/penetration testers as well as internal security personnel to conduct testing, including simulated attacks, penetration tests, and audits on Equifax's systems on a periodic basis, and ordering Equifax to promptly correct any problems or issues detected by such third-party security auditors; (2) ordering that Equifax engage third-party security auditors and internal personnel to run automated security monitoring; (3) ordering that Equifax audit, test, and train its security personnel regarding any new or modified procedures; (4) ordering that Equifax segment Class members' data by, among other things, creating firewalls and access controls so that if one area of Equifax's information systems is compromised, hackers cannot gain access to other portions of Equifax's systems; (5) ordering that Equifax purge, delete, and destroy in a reasonably secure manner Class members' data not necessary for its provisions of services; (6) ordering that Equifax conduct regular database scanning and security checks; and (7) ordering that Equifax routinely and continually conduct internal training and education to inform internal security personnel how to identify and contain a breach when it occurs and what to do in response to a breach.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

Violation of the Ohio Data Breach Notification Statute

(R.C. § 1349.19)

(On Behalf of the Ohio Subclass only)

65. Plaintiff Gottesman incorporates and re-alleges all allegations contained in the preceding and subsequent paragraphs as if fully set forth herein. Plaintiff and the other members of the Ohio Subclass are Class members whose Personal Information Equifax used for personal and private use.

66. The breach revealed by Equifax on September 7, 2017 was a data breach whereby the Personal Information of members of the Class and Subclasses, including the Ohio Subclass, was acquired or accessed in a way that compromised its security and confidentiality. Accordingly, Equifax was required by law to notify the affected individuals in the most expedient time and manner possible and without unreasonable delay.

67. By failing to timely and expediently notify the Ohio Subclass of the data breach, Equifax violated Ohio's R.C. § 1349.19, which provides, in part:

(B) (1) Any person that owns or licenses computerized data that includes personal information shall disclose any breach of the security of the system, following its discovery or notification of the breach of the security of the system, to any resident of this state whose personal information was, or reasonably is believed to have been, accessed and acquired by an unauthorized person if the access and acquisition by the unauthorized person causes or reasonably is believed will cause a material risk of identity theft or other fraud to the resident. . . .

(2) The person shall make the disclosure described in division (B)(1) of this section in the most expedient time possible but not later than forty-five days following its discovery or notification of the breach in the security of the system, subject to the legitimate needs of law enforcement activities described in division (D) of this section and consistent with any measures necessary to determine the scope of the breach, including which residents' personal information was accessed and acquired, and to restore the reasonable integrity of the data system.

(D) The person may delay the disclosure or notification required by division (B), (C), or (G) of this section if a law enforcement agency determines that the disclosure or notification will impede a criminal investigation or jeopardize homeland or national security, in which case, the person shall make the disclosure or notification after the law enforcement agency determines that disclosure or notification will not compromise the investigation or jeopardize homeland or national security.

68. The Breach constituted a "breach of the security of the system" of Equifax within the meaning of the above Ohio data breach notification statute in that there was an unauthorized access to and acquisition of computerized data that included Personal Information which was reasonably believed by all to have caused a material risk of identity theft or other fraud to residents of Ohio. The data breached was therefore protected and covered by the data breach notification statute.

69. Equifax unreasonably delayed informing the public, including Plaintiff Gottesman and the members of the Ohio Subclass, about the data breach after Equifax knew or should have known that the data breach had occurred.

70. Equifax failed to disclose the Breach to Plaintiff Gottesman and the other members of the Ohio Subclass without unreasonable delay and in the most expedient time possible.

71. Plaintiff Gottesman and the other members of the Subclass suffered harm directly resulting from Equifax's failure to provide and the delay in providing notification of the Breach with timely and accurate notice as required by law.

72. As a result of said practices, Equifax has directly, foreseeably, and proximately caused damages to Plaintiff Gottesman and the other members of the Ohio Subclass. Had Equifax provided timely, expedient, and accurate notice of the Breach, Plaintiff Gottesman and the other members of the Ohio Subclass would have been able to avoid and/or attempt to ameliorate or mitigate the damages and harm resulting in the unreasonable delay by Equifax in providing notice. Plaintiff and the Subclass members could have avoided providing further data to Equifax, could have avoided use of Equifax's services, and could otherwise have tried to avoid and monitor any harm caused by Equifax's delay in providing timely and accurate notice.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION

Violation of the New Jersey Data Notification Statute

(N.J.S.A. 56:8-163)

(On Behalf of the New Jersey Subclass only)

73. Plaintiff Hesney incorporates and re-alleges all allegations contained in the preceding and subsequent paragraphs as if fully set forth herein. Plaintiff and the other members of the New Jersey Subclass are Class members whose Personal Information Equifax used for personal and private use.

74. By failing to timely notify the New Jersey Subclass of the data breach, Equifax violated N.J.S.A. 56:8-163, which provides, in part:

a. Any business that conducts business in New Jersey, or any public entity that compiles or maintains computerized records that include personal information, shall disclose any breach of security of those computerized records following discovery or notification of the breach to any customer who is a resident of New Jersey whose personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been, accessed by an unauthorized person. The disclosure to a customer shall be made in the most expedient time possible and without unreasonable delay, consistent with the legitimate needs of law enforcement, as provided in subsection c. of this section, or any measures necessary to determine the scope of the breach and restore the reasonable integrity of the data system. Disclosure of a breach of security to a customer shall not be required under this section if the business or public entity establishes that misuse of the information is not reasonably possible. Any determination shall be documented in writing and retained for five years.

b. Any business or public entity that compiles or maintains computerized records that include personal information on behalf of another business or public entity shall notify that business or public entity, who shall notify its New Jersey customers, as provided in subsection a. of this section, of any breach of security of the computerized records immediately following discovery, if the personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been, accessed by an unauthorized person.

c. (1) Any business or public entity required under this section to disclose a breach of security of a customer's personal information shall, in advance of the disclosure to the customer, report the breach of security and any information pertaining to the breach to the Division of State Police in the Department of Law and Public Safety for investigation or handling, which may include dissemination or referral to other appropriate law enforcement entities.

(2) The notification required by this section shall be delayed if a law enforcement agency determines that the notification will impede a criminal or civil investigation and that agency has made a request that the notification be delayed. The notification required by this section shall be made after the law enforcement agency determines that its disclosure will not compromise the investigation and notifies that business or public entity.

75. The Breach constituted a “Breach of security” of Equifax within the meaning of the above New Jersey data breach statute and the data breached was protected and covered by the data breach statute.

76. Equifax unreasonably delayed informing the public, including Plaintiff and the members of the Subclass, about the data breach after Equifax knew or should have known that the data breach had occurred.

77. Equifax failed to disclose the Breach to Plaintiff Hesney and the other members of the New Jersey Subclass without unreasonable delay and in the most expedient time possible.

78. Plaintiff Hesney and the other members of the New Jersey Subclass suffered harm directly resulting from Equifax's failure to provide and the delay in providing notification of the Breach with timely and accurate notice as required by law.

64. As a result of said practices, Equifax has directly, foreseeably, and proximately caused damages to Plaintiff Hesney and the other members of the New Jersey Subclass. Had Equifax provided timely and accurate notice of the Breach, Plaintiff Hesney and the other members of the New Jersey Subclass would have been able to avoid and/or attempt to ameliorate or mitigate the damages and harm resulting in the unreasonable delay by Equifax in providing notice. Plaintiff Hesney and the New Jersey Subclass members could have avoided providing further data to Equifax, could have avoided use of Equifax's services, and could otherwise have tried to avoid and monitor any harm caused by Equifax's delay in providing timely and accurate notice.

SIXTH CAUSE OF ACTION

Violation of the New York Data Breach Notification Statute

(GBL § 899-aa)

(On Behalf of the New York Subclass only)

79. Plaintiffs Chakan and Pollak incorporate and re-allege all allegations contained in the preceding and subsequent paragraphs as if fully set forth herein. Plaintiffs Chakan and Pollak and the other members of the New York Subclass are Class members whose Personal Information Equifax used for personal and private use.

80. By failing to timely notify the New York Subclass of the data breach, Equifax violated GBL § 899-aa, which provides, in part:

2. Any person or business which conducts business in New York state, and which owns or licenses computerized data which includes private information shall disclose any breach of the security of the system following discovery or notification of the breach in the security of the system to any resident of New York state whose private information was, or is reasonably believed to have been, acquired by a person without valid authorization. The disclosure shall be made in the most expedient time possible and without unreasonable delay, consistent with the legitimate needs of law enforcement, as provided in subdivision four of this section, or any measures necessary to determine the scope of the breach and restore the reasonable integrity of the system.

* * *

4. The notification required by this section may be delayed if a law enforcement agency determines that such notification impedes a criminal investigation. The notification required by this section shall be made after such law enforcement agency determines that such notification does not compromise such investigation.

* * *

7. Regardless of the method by which notice is provided, such notice shall include contact information for the person or business making the notification and a description of the categories of information that were, or are reasonably believed to have been, acquired by a person without valid authorization, including specification of which of the elements of personal information and private information were, or are reasonably believed to have been, so acquired.

81. Further, New York law provides that, “in addition to any other lawful remedy,” “[w]henver the court shall determine in such action that a person or business violated this article knowingly or recklessly, the court may impose a civil penalty of the greater of five thousand dollars or up to ten dollars per instance of failed notification, provided that the latter amount shall not exceed one hundred fifty thousand dollars.”

82. The Breach constituted a “[b]reach of the security of the system” of Equifax within the meaning of the above New York data breach statute and the data breached was protected and covered by the data breach statute.

83. Equifax unreasonably delayed informing the public, including Plaintiffs Chakan and Pollak and the members of the New York Subclass, about the data breach after Equifax knew or should have known that the data breach had occurred.

84. Equifax failed to disclose the Breach reach to Plaintiffs Chakan and Pollak and the other members of the New York Subclass without unreasonable delay and in the most expedient time possible.

85. Plaintiffs Chakan and Pollak and the other members of the New York Subclass suffered harm directly resulting from Equifax's failure to provide and the delay in providing notification of the Breach with timely and accurate notice as required by law.

86. As a result of said practices, Equifax has directly, foreseeably, and proximately caused damages to Plaintiffs Chakan and Pollak and the other members of the New York Subclass. Had Equifax provided timely and accurate notice of the Breach Plaintiffs Chakan and Pollak and the other members of the New York Subclass would have been able to avoid and/or attempt to ameliorate or mitigate the damages and harm resulting in the unreasonable delay by Equifax in providing notice. Plaintiffs Chakan and Pollak and the New York Subclass members could have avoided providing further data to Equifax, could have avoided use of Equifax's services, and could otherwise have tried to avoid and monitor any harm caused by Equifax's delay in providing timely and accurate notice.

REQUEST FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs, on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, respectfully request that this Court:

A. Certify this action as a class action pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(a) and (b)(3), and appoint the Plaintiffs as Class and Subclass representatives and their counsel as Class Counsel;

B. Award Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class and Subclass appropriate relief, including actual and statutory damages;

C. Enter judgment in favor of Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class and against the Defendant under the legal theories alleged herein;

D. Award reasonable attorneys' fees, costs, and expenses;

E. Award the Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class and Subclass pre-judgment and post-judgment interest at the maximum rate allowable by law;

F. Award Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class and Subclass equitable, injunctive and declaratory relief as may be appropriate under applicable laws. Plaintiffs on behalf of the other members of the Class and Subclass seek appropriate injunctive relief designed to ensure against the recurrence of a data breach by adopting and implementing reasonable data security practices to safeguard Class members' Personal Information, by an Order requiring Equifax to implement reasonable data security enhancements as they become available, including data encryption, segregation of sensitive data, more robust passwords, authentication of users, increased control of access to sensitive information on the network, prohibitions of mass exports of sensitive data;

G. Enter Declaratory Judgment that the provisions in Equifax's Liability Limit and Choice of Law Provision do not constitute binding agreements and are unconscionable and unenforceable;

H. Enter such additional orders or judgment as may be necessary to prevent a recurrence of the Breach and to restore any interest or any money or property which may have been acquired by means of violations set forth in this Complaint; and

I. Grant such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

JURY DEMAND

Plaintiffs demand a trial by jury on all issues so triable.
