UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT 1 2 NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA 3 SAN FRANCISCO DIVISION 4 5 IN RE GOOGLE PLAY STORE Case No. 3:21-md-02981-JD 6 ANTITRUST LITIGATION 7 THIS DOCUMENT RELATES TO: JOINT STATEMENT RE: CASE 8 Epic Games Inc. v. Google LLC et al., Case SCHEDULE AND TRIAL STRUCTURE No. 3:20-cv-05671-JD 9 In re Google Play Consumer Antitrust Judge: Hon. James Donato 10 Litigation, Case No. 3:20-cv-05761-JD 11 In re Google Play Developer Antitrust Litigation, Case No. 3:20-cv-05792-JD 12 State of Utah et al. v. Google LLC et al., Case 13 No. 3:21-cv-05227-JD 14 15 Pursuant to this Court's instruction at the conclusion of the December 16, 2021 status conference, the parties in the above-captioned MDL action ("the Parties"), by and through 16 17 their undersigned counsel, submit this Joint Statement Regarding Case Schedule and Trial 18 Structure. 19 I. CASE SCHEDULE 20 Based on the guidance provided by the Court at the last status conference, the 21 Parties have met and conferred regarding a modified schedule for this MDL. The Parties jointly 22 propose the case schedule attached as Exhibit A and set forth in the proposed order accompanying 23 this filing based on a proposed trial date of January 30, 2023. As advised by the Court, this 24 proposed schedule separates the Daubert and class certification motion hearings, separates the 25 Daubert and dispositive motion hearings, sets deadlines for joint filings in advance of the 26 concurrent expert proceedings and sets the hearing for dispositive motions two months before the 27 final pretrial conference.

II. TRIAL STRUCTURE

The Parties have met and conferred regarding the structure of any trials. As the Court has previously noted, 7/22/21 Tr. 7:22-8:7, the Complaints assert substantially similar theories of antitrust liability. Given the Court's guidance that the "optimal result" would be to have "one jury decide[] in one sitting the core antitrust issues," see 7/22/21 Tr. 29:03-24, the Parties are planning to proceed accordingly with a combined jury trial on the core antitrust liability issues common to the four cases.

With respect to the issue of damages, the Consumer Plaintiffs, Developer Plaintiffs, State Plaintiffs, and Google Defendants respectfully suggest that the Court defer ruling further on trial structure until after the close of expert discovery on August 19, 2022. Whether there should be a separate damages phase, and the structure of that phase, will be informed by factual evidence still to be obtained in discovery, expert reports and depositions, motions practice, and other developments that may occur over the next several months.

Likewise, with respect to Google's counterclaims against Epic, Epic and Google respectfully suggest that the Court defer ruling further on trial structure. Whether evidence and arguments about Google's counterclaims against Epic should be part of a liability trial in which all Plaintiffs are present, or should instead be addressed during a separate phase or trial, will be informed by factual evidence still to be obtained in discovery, expert reports and depositions, motions practice, and other developments that may occur over the next several months.

The Parties jointly propose that they meet and confer on these issues promptly following the close of expert discovery (which is set for August 19, 2022 under the schedule jointly proposed by the Parties), and then meet with the Court to further discuss trial structure and the length of any trials<sup>2</sup> with the benefit of a more developed record.

&lt;sup>1</sup> Plaintiff Epic has not asserted any claim for damages against Google and has no objection to the other Parties' suggestion that the Court defer ruling on the trial structure as it relates to the other Plaintiffs' damages claims.

&lt;sup>2</sup> At the December 16, 2021 status conference, the Court indicated that its preliminary view was that the core antitrust liability issues could be tried over a three-week period with approximately 20-25 hours allotted to Plaintiffs and 20-25 hours allotted to Google. At this stage, Plaintiffs anticipate needing more than three weeks to try the core antitrust liability issues due to the
