

Indico Data Solutions (“Indico”) is notifying potentially impacted individuals of a data security incident that may have affected their personal information. Notice to impacted individuals is being provided on behalf of the companies listed below. This notice contains information about what occurred, steps taken in response, and what impacted individuals can do to protect their information.

What Happened? On May 7, 2026, Indico determined that it had suffered a cybersecurity incident. Indico immediately implemented its incident response protocols, took steps to secure the environment, and worked with external cybersecurity specialists to investigate. The investigation found that the incident may have involved unauthorized access to online repositories containing corporate customer information. Indico notified corporate customers whose data may have been impacted by the security incident and worked with them to identify anyone whose personal information was present. While the review of data is ongoing, Indico is in the process of notifying impacted individuals identified to date.

What Information Was Involved? Information that may have been present includes individuals’ names, addresses, and Social Security numbers.

What We Are Doing and What You Can Do: Indico has taken steps to help prevent a similar incident in the future, including but not limited to rotating access credentials, implementing additional monitoring tools, and tightening access controls. Indico has mailed letters to potentially impacted individuals containing information about what occurred, steps taken in response, and offering, at no cost, credit monitoring and identity restoration costs through TransUnion. Individuals should also be vigilant and review their financial accounts statements and credit reports for suspicious activity. More information on protecting your identity can be found on the FTC’s website at www.identitytheft.gov.

For More Information: To determine whether you were impacted by this incident, please call 1-800-405-6108 between 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Eastern Time, Monday through Friday, excluding holidays. Indico sincerely apologizes for any concern this incident may cause you.
