Dear <<Full Name>>,

McLeod Health is committed to protecting the privacy and security of the information in our care. We are writing to notify you of an incident that may have involved some of your information related to your care at Dillon Family Medicine. This letter explains the incident, the measures we have taken, and steps you may consider taking.

What Happened?

On March 5, 2026, a suspicious file was found on a Dillon Family Medicine server that was in the process of being decommissioned. We immediately began an investigation with the assistance of third-party experts and notified law enforcement. On April 14, 2026, we learned through the investigation that an unauthorized party had accessed the server containing Dillon Family Medicine patient information between October 17, 2025 and October 18, 2025. Importantly, this incident was limited to the one server and did not involve any active McLeod Health systems, such as the practice's current electronic medical record system.

What Information Was Involved?

Based on the files known to have been maintained on the accessed server, the incident may have involved some of your information, including one or more of the following: your name, date of birth, Social Security number, and also potentially other information related to your care, such as diagnoses, medications, test results, images, health insurance, and treatment information.

What We Are Doing.

We take this matter very seriously. To help prevent a similar incident, we will continue to implement and evaluate enhanced safeguards and security measures to further protect our systems. The server involved in this incident has also been fully decommissioned and is no longer in use.

What You Can Do.

We are offering you a complimentary <<CM Duration>>-month membership to Experian's IdentityWorksSM. This product helps detect possible misuse of your personal information and provides identity protection services focused on identification and resolution of identity theft. If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact the Federal Trade Commission and/or the Attorney General's office in your state. You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report. Obtain a copy of the police report in case you are asked to provide copies to creditors to correct your records. Contact information for the Federal Trade Commission is as follows:

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
