Important Security Notification. Please read this entire letter.

Dear <<Name 1>>,

Subject: Notice of Data Breach

Philips Respironics International Colorado, Inc. (“Respironics Colorado, Inc., a Philips company”), a supplier of durable medical equipment, is writing to inform you of a security incident potentially involving your personal data. We place a high value on maintaining the privacy and security of the information we maintain for our customers. This message is to inform you of the situation, the steps taken in response, and what you can do.

What Happened

RICO’s parent company, Philips Respironics, was notified on June 5, 2023 of a security vulnerability in a data transfer tool it uses known as MOVEit. RICO uses the MOVEit Transfer tool in its management of therapy data for medical devices. The MOVEit security vulnerability had a significant global impact, affecting hundreds of organizations worldwide. RICO and Philips Respironics took steps to investigate and respond to the security incident.

On November 2, 2023, our ongoing investigation confirmed that an unauthorized party exploited the MOVEit software vulnerability and extracted files on May 31, 2023. After further analysis, on December 1, 2023, we determined that some of your information potentially was involved in this incident. This data may include your name, address, date of birth, e-mail address, phone number, patient ID, facility ID, device serial number, modem serial number, physician, and device usage. <<This incident affected 30,002 Texas residents.>>

What We Are Doing

We are working closely with Philips Respironics to notify all impacted parties. RICO and Philips Respironics temporarily suspended their use of MOVEit as a proactive measure which is part of an effort to strengthen their security protocols such as enhanced encryption, aiming to minimize the risk of any future incidents.

Further, to help protect your identity, RICO is offering a complimentary one-year membership to Experian’s Identity Works services, which include credit monitoring and identity restoration services. You can enroll in these complimentary services by following the enrollment instructions contained in this letter.

Fraud Alerts. You may place a fraud alert on your file by calling one of the three nationwide credit reporting agencies above. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. For that reason, placing a fraud alert can protect you, but also may delay you when you seek to obtain credit.

Credit Freezes (for Non-Massachusetts Residents): You may have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, so that no new credit can be opened in your name without the use of a PIN number that is issued to you when you initiate a freeze. A credit freeze is designed to prevent potential credit grantors from accessing your credit report without your consent. If you place a credit freeze, potential creditors and other third parties will not be able to get access to your credit report unless you temporarily lift the freeze. Therefore, using a credit freeze may delay your ability to obtain credit. In addition, you may incur fees to place, lift and/or remove a credit freeze. Credit freeze laws vary from state to state. The cost of placing, temporarily lifting, and removing a credit freeze also varies by state, generally $5 to $20 per action at each credit reporting company. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a credit freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. Since the instructions for how to establish a credit freeze differ from state to state, please contact the three major credit reporting companies as indicated above. You can obtain more information about fraud alerts and credit freezes by contacting the FTC or one of the national credit reporting agencies listed above.

Credit Freezes (for Massachusetts Residents): Massachusetts law gives you the right to place a security freeze on your consumer reports. A security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans and services from being approved in your name without your consent. Using a security freeze, however, may delay your ability to obtain credit. You may request that a freeze be placed on your credit report by sending a request to a credit reporting agency by certified mail, overnight mail or regular stamped mail to the respective address indicated above.

Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a credit freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. The following information should be included when requesting a security freeze (documentation for you and your spouse must be submitted when freezing a spouse's credit report): full name, with middle initial and any suffixes; Social Security number; date of birth (month, day and year); current address and previous addresses for the past five (5) years; and applicable fee (if any) or incident report or complaint with a law enforcement agency or the Department of Motor Vehicles. The request should also include a copy of a government-issued identification card, such as a driver's license, state or military ID card, and proof of current residential address (e.g., a copy of a utility bill, bank or insurance statement). Each copy should be legible, display your name and current mailing address, and the date of issue. If you have been a victim of identity theft, and you provide the credit reporting agency with a valid police report, the agency cannot charge you to place, lift or remove a security freeze. In all other cases, the credit reporting company may charge a reasonable fee of up to $5 to place a freeze or lift or remove a freeze.

You may contact the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and State Attorneys General Offices. If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should contact the FTC and/or your state's attorney general office about for information on how to prevent or avoid identity theft.
