WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

BRADLEY SHAW and THOMAS MCCARTHY, on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated,

Plaintiffs,

vs.

COSTCO WHOLESALE CORPORATION, a
Washington corporation; and SCHELL &
KAMPETER, INC. d/b/a/ DIAMOND PET FOODS
INC.,

Defendants.

NO.

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

Plaintiffs Bradley Shaw and Thomas McCarthy ("Plaintiffs"), acting on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated ("Class Members"), bring this action for damages and equitable relief against Costco Wholesale Corporation and Schell and Kampeter, Inc. d/b/a Diamond Pet Foods Inc. ("Defendants").

I. NATURE OF THE CASE

1. Pet owners take the health and well-being of their dogs seriously. Accordingly, when purchasing dog foods, an important consideration for many consumers, including

2. Plaintiffs and consumers willingly pay a premium for limited ingredient pet foods—like Defendants’ Kirkland Nature’s Domain “Turkey Meal & Sweet Potato Formula for Dogs” and Kirkland Nature’s Domain Puppy “Chicken and Pea Formula” (collectively “Kirkland Products”) purport to be—for the health and well-being of their pets.

3. Defendants' dog foods purport to be "grain free" and formulated using specific, limited ingredients. But, in reality, they contain wheat and other unlisted ingredients.

4. Defendants’ omissions are material to consumers. Consumers—including Plaintiffs—purchase Kirkland Products because Defendants represent that the products actually include only limited ingredients, are specifically formulated for the health needs of dogs, that the Kirkland Products meet Defendants’ own ingredient promises and warranties, and that the Kirkland Products adhere to quality and manufacturing standards. If Defendants disclosed the material facts concerning these products, including that the supposed “grain free” products contained wheat and other foods, consumers like Plaintiffs would not have purchased Defendants’ pet foods or not paid as much money for them.

5. Plaintiff Bradley Shaw is a citizen of Washington residing in Vancouver, Clark County.

6. Plaintiff Thomas McCarthy is a citizen of New York residing in Brewster, Putnam County.

IV. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. Plaintiff Bradley Shaw.

13. Plaintiff Shaw purchased the Kirkland Products quarterly in 2019 for his puppy. Specifically, Plaintiff Shaw purchased the Kirkland Nature's Domain Puppy Chicken and Pea Formula.

14. Plaintiff Shaw most often purchased the Kirkland Products from Costco locations in Vancouver, Washington. Specifically, Plaintiff Shaw purchased the Kirkland Products at the E. Vancouver Costco Warehouse located at 6720 NE 84th Street, Vancouver, WA 98665.

15. Plaintiff Shaw reviewed the packaging of the Kirkland Products, including the claim that the food was "grain free," when deciding which food to purchase.

16. Although the Kirkland Products were more expensive than other choices Plaintiff Shaw viewed, he chose to pay the premium price based upon the "limited ingredient" promises made by Defendants.

17. If Defendants had disclosed that these foods contain unlisted ingredients including wheat, Plaintiff Shaw would not have paid a premium price for the pet food.

18. Defendants' factual representations about the ingredients in the Kirkland Products dog food were material to Plaintiff Shaw's purchasing decision, including those representations on the product label. The representations all indicate that the Kirkland Products are "grain free." The labels did not disclose the material facts that this dog food contains wheat.

19. Plaintiff Shaw quit purchasing the Kirkland Products after his puppy tragically passed away in late 2019.

20. Plaintiff Shaw did not receive the benefit of his bargain when he purchased the Kirkland Limited Ingredient Diet products because the products failed to disclose that they included ingredients that did not conform to the packaging representations and to the

1 warranties made by Defendants. Had this information not been omitted, he would have either
2 not purchased the Kirkland Products or would have paid less for them.

3 21. If Defendants would conform the Kirkland Products to the claims and promises
4 made about ingredients on their packaging, Plaintiff Shaw would be willing and likely to 5 purchase the Kirkland Products in the future if he were to get another dog.

6 B. Plaintiff Thomas McCarthy.

7 22. Plaintiff McCarthy purchased the Kirkland Products in 2018 and 2019 to feed to 8 his dog. Specifically, Plaintiff McCarthy purchased the Kirkland Nature's Domain Chicken and 9 Pea Formula for Dogs.

10 23. Plaintiff McCarthy most often purchased the Kirkland Products from a local 11 Costco Wholesale in Patterson, New York. Plaintiff McCarthy always purchased a 20-pound bag
12 and purchased a bag once per month.

13 24. Plaintiff McCarthy reviewed the packaging of the Kirkland Products, including the 14 claim that the food was "grain free," when deciding which food to purchase.

15 25. Although the Kirkland Products were more expensive than other choices he 16 viewed, he chose to pay the premium price based upon the "limited ingredient" promises made 17 by Defendants.

18 26. If Defendants had disclosed that these foods contain unlisted ingredients
19 including wheat, Plaintiff McCarthy would not have paid a premium price for the pet food.

20 27. Defendants' factual representations about the ingredients in the Kirkland
21 Products dog food were material to Plaintiff McCarthy's purchasing decision, including those 22 representations on the product label. The representations all indicate that the Kirkland
23 Products are Products and are "grain free." The labels did not disclose the material facts that 24 this dog food contains wheat.

25 28. When Plaintiff McCarthy learned that Defendants mislabeled their products, he 26 stopped purchasing the Kirkland Limited Ingredient Diet products.
27

1 29. Plaintiff McCarthy did not receive the benefit of his bargain when he purchased
 2 the Kirkland Limited Ingredient Diet products because the products failed to disclose that they
 3 included ingredients that did not conform to the packaging representations and warranties
 4 made by Defendants. Had this information not been omitted, he would have either not
 5 purchased the Kirkland Products or would have paid less for it.

6 C. Defendants' Omissions and Material Misrepresentations.

7 30. Pet foods vary in their quality of ingredients, formula, manufacturing processes,
 8 and inspection quality. Pet owners who purchase "grain free" and "limited ingredient" products
 9 pay a premium in order to alleviate their pets' allergies or to provide various health benefits
 10 associated with a grain free or limited ingredient diet. Notably, food allergies are more common 11 among certain dog breeds than others.

12 31. In addition, pet owners including the Plaintiffs and Class, are willing to pay a 13 premium for dog food with premium ingredients and expect the products that are advertised
 14 in this manner to conform to the ingredients listed on the packaging.

15 32. If these products disclosed the truth—that they can contain wheat or other
 16 ingredients that are different from or beyond those that are listed—then these pet owners
 17 would no longer pay such a premium

18 33. Accordingly, Defendants' omissions and misrepresentations regarding the 19 ingredients in the Kirkland Products are material to consumers who purchase this product,
 20 passing over products that cost less but do not claim to be made from select, premium
 21 ingredients.

22 34. Defendants understand the importance of not having ingredients that cause
 23 allergic reactions or adverse reactions and of limiting the overall number of ingredients.

1 Defendant Costco unequivocally states on its website “Grain-free: This formula provides your
2 special pet with optimal nutrition for overall good health.”¹

3 35. Upon information and belief, Costco and Diamond both participate equally in the 4 decisions related to product ingredients, product testing, labels, packaging and advertising.

5 36. Upon information and belief, Costco and Diamond both participate equally in 6 making sure the packaging on the Kirkland Products states “Grain Free”.

7 37. Upon information and belief, Costco and Diamond both derive the front and back
8 of the labeling of the Kirkland Products that states they are “Grain Free”.

9 38. The front and back of the Kirkland Products dog food bags include numerous
10 representations of the Defendants that are materially misleading and fail to disclose material
11 information about the food products included within. Images of the front and back of the bags
12 are reproduced below:

Kirkland Nature's Domain Turkey Meal & Sweet Potato Formula for Dogs⁴

39. The representations that the Kirkland Products “Grain Free” on the front and back of every bag. Further, the ingredients are listed on the back of the bag.

40. Wheat is not listed as an ingredient on the Kirkland Products’ ingredient list on the back of the bag or anywhere else on the products’ bags.

⁴<https://www.amazon.com/Kirklands-Signature-NatureS-Domain-Turkey/dp/B00SWJD5QC> (last visited September 15, 2020).

1 41. All of the Defendants' representations regarding the ingredients in the Kirkland
2 Products, and the safety of the Kirkland Products for dogs that may be sensitive or allergic to 3 grains, are false.

4 42. In fact, the Kirkland Products contain significant amounts wheat. Plaintiffs'
5 independent analysis of the ingredients of the Kirkland Products found that the Kirkland
6 Products contain material amounts of wheat using the industry standard Q-PCR method of DNA
7 testing. By any scientific standard, the wheat found within the Kirkland Products is greater than 8 trace. The inclusion of wheat in a product labeled as "grain free" is material to Plaintiffs, the 9 Class, and to reasonable consumers.

10 D. Defendants' Omissions and Misrepresentations are Material to Reasonable
11 Consumers.

12 43. Although pet foods vary in the quality of ingredients, formula, manufacturing 13 processes, and inspection quality, dog owners often choose to purchase products that have 14 limited ingredients—like wheat here—because certain dog breeds have allergies associated 15 with dog foods that contain these ingredients or because the owners understand that certain 16 ingredients help—or hamper—their pets' health, weight, and overall well-being.

17 44. When pet owners buy limited ingredient dog food, they usually do so to prevent 18 a health issue or address a nutritional deficiency that their dog may be experiencing. And 19 consumers generally must pay a premium price for these specialized pet food formulations.

20 45. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and Class Members purchased the Kirkland Products
21 spending additional money for the premium food and its promises, instead of cheaper dog food
22 alternatives that are known to contain wheat.

23 46. Defendants' misrepresentations and omissions about the formulation of the 24 Kirkland Products drive consumers' purchases.

V. CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

A. Class Definitions.

47. Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and the members of the following class:

All persons residing in the United States and its territories who, from November 3, 2016 to the present, purchased the Kirkland Products primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, and not for resale.

48. In addition, or alternatively, Plaintiff Bradley Shaw brings this action on behalf of himself and the members of the following subclass ("Washington Subclass"):

All persons residing in Washington who, from November 3, 2016 to the present, purchased the Kirkland Products primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, and not for resale.

49. In addition, or alternatively, Plaintiff Thomas McCarthy brings this action on behalf of himself and the members of the following subclass ("New York Subclass"):

All persons residing in New York who, from November 3, 2016 to the present, purchased the Kirkland Products primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, and not for resale.

50. Specifically excluded from this definition are: (1) Defendants and any entity in which any Defendant has a controlling interest, and its legal representatives, officers, directors, employees, assigns and successors; (2) the Judge to whom this case is assigned and any member of the Judge's staff or immediate family; and (3) Class Counsel.

51. Plaintiffs reserve the right to amend the Class definition and Subclass definitions as necessary.

52. As used herein, "Class Members" shall mean and refer to the members of the Nationwide Class and any of the Subclasses, including Plaintiffs.

53. Plaintiffs seek only damages and equitable relief on behalf of themselves and the Class Members. Plaintiffs disclaim any intent or right to seek any recovery in this action for

1 personal injuries, wrongful death, or emotional distress suffered by Plaintiffs and/or the Class
2 Members.

3 54. Numerosity: Although the exact number of Class Members is uncertain and can 4 only be ascertained through appropriate discovery, the number is great enough such that 5 joinder is impracticable. The disposition of the claims of these Class Members in a single action
6 will provide substantial benefits to all parties and to the Court.

7 55. Typicality: The claims of the representative Plaintiffs are typical in that Plaintiffs,
8 like all Class Members, purchased the Kirkland Products that were manufactured and 9 distributed by Defendants. Plaintiffs, like all Class Members, have been damaged by 10 Defendants' misconduct in that, inter alia, they have incurred or will continue to incur damage 11 due to purchasing a product at a premium price that contained ingredients (wheat) that 12 Defendants omitted from the Kirkland Products. Furthermore, the factual bases of Defendants'
13 misconduct are common to all Class Members and represent a common thread of fraudulent,
14 deliberate, and negligent misconduct resulting in injury to all Class Members.

15 56. Commonality: There are numerous questions of law and fact common to 16 Plaintiffs and Class Members that predominate over any individual questions. These common 17 legal and factual issues include the following:

- 18 a. Whether the Kirkland Products contain wheat;
- 19 b. Whether Defendants failed to disclose that their products are not grain 20 free;
- 21 c. Whether Defendants' omissions are material to a reasonable consumer;
- 22 d. Whether Defendants expressly warranted that the Kirkland Products 23 would conform to the representations made on their packaging that the 24 Kirkland Products are grain free;
- 25 e. Whether Defendants impliedly warranted that the Kirkland Products
26 would conform to the representations that they are limited ingredient 27 products that would pass without objection in the trade under this description and are fit for the ordinary purposes for which such goods are sold;

- 1 f. Whether Defendants breached their warranties by making the representations above;
- 2 g. Whether Defendants were unjustly enriched by making the representations and omissions above;
- 3 h. Whether Defendants' actions as described above violated state consumer protection laws as alleged herein;
- 4 i. Whether Defendants should be required to make restitution, disgorge profits, reimburse losses, pay damages, and pay treble damages as a result of the above described practices.

57. Adequate Representation: Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of Class Members. Plaintiffs have retained attorneys experienced in the prosecution of class actions, including consumer and product defect class actions, and Plaintiffs intend to prosecute this action vigorously.

58. Predominance and Superiority: Plaintiffs and Class Members have all suffered and will continue to suffer harm and damages as a result of Defendants' unlawful and wrongful conduct. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy. Absent a class action, Class Members would likely find the cost of litigating their claims prohibitively high and would therefore have no effective remedy at law. Because of the relatively small size of Class Members' individual claims, it is likely that few Class Members could afford to seek legal redress for Defendants' misconduct. Absent a class action, Class Members will continue to incur damages, and Defendants' misconduct will continue without remedy. Class treatment of common questions of law and fact would also be a superior method to multiple individual actions or piecemeal litigation in that class treatment will conserve the resources of the courts and the litigants and will promote consistency and efficiency of adjudication.

59. Defendants have acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the Class, thereby making appropriate final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief with respect to the Class as a whole.

COUNT 1BREACH OF EXPRESS WARRANTY

60. Plaintiffs brings this count on behalf of themselves and the Class, and alternatively, the Subclasses, and repeats and re-alleges all previous paragraphs, as if fully included herein.

61. Defendants marketed, sold, and/or distributed the Kirkland Products, and Plaintiffs and Class Members purchased the Kirkland Products.

62. Defendants represented in their marketing, advertising, and promotion of the Kirkland Products that their product was “Grain Free.” Defendants made these representations to induce Plaintiffs and Class Members to purchase the Kirkland Products, which did in fact induce Plaintiffs and other Class Members to purchase this product.

63. Consumers like Plaintiffs and Class Members who pay a premium for Limited Ingredient dog foods base their purchasing decision based on what the marketing, advertising, and promotion says about the ingredients in the dog food.

64. Accordingly, Defendants’ representations that the Kirkland Products are grain free became part of the basis of the bargain between Defendants and Plaintiffs and other Class Members.

65. The Kirkland Products did not conform to Defendants’ representations and warranties regarding “Grain Free” because at all relevant times the bags of the Kirkland Products contained these ingredients.

66. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants’ breaches of their express warranties and their failure to conform to the Kirkland Products’ express representations, Plaintiffs and members of the Class have been damaged. Plaintiffs and Class Members have suffered damages in that they did not receive the product they specifically paid for and that Defendants warranted it to be. In addition, Plaintiffs and Class Members paid a premium for a product that did not conform to the Defendants’ warranties.

67. As of the date of this filing, Plaintiffs mailed a letter to Defendants outlining Defendants' conduct that is a breach of the express warranty of the Kirkland Products as described throughout this complaint.

BREACH OF IMPLIED WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY

68. Plaintiffs bring this count on behalf of themselves and the Class, and alternatively, the Subclasses, and repeat and re-allege all previous paragraphs, as if fully included herein.

69. Defendants marketed, sold, and/or distributed the Kirkland Products, and Plaintiffs and other Class Members purchased the Kirkland Products.

70. Plaintiffs bring this claim for breach of the Uniform Commercial Code's implied warranty of merchantability on behalf of themselves and other consumers who purchased the Kirkland Products as a limited ingredient dog food product for their pets.

71. The Defendants are merchants as defined by applicable UCC provisions.

72. The Defendants have breached the implied warranties of merchantability that they made to Plaintiffs and the prospective class. For example, Defendants impliedly warranted that the Kirkland Products were free from defects, that they were merchantable, and that they were fit for the ordinary purpose for which limited ingredient dog foods are used.

73. When sold by Defendants, the Kirkland Products were not merchantable, were not grain free, were not of adequate quality within that description, were not fit for the ordinary purposes for which such goods are used, and did not conform to the promises or affirmations of fact made on the container or label.

74. On or about September 28, 2020, Plaintiffs gave notice to Defendants that the product was not fit for such purpose and/or was not otherwise merchantable as set forth above. Plaintiffs will seek to amend their complaint after notice and Defendants' response to amend this allegation.

76. Because of the defects in the Kirkland Products product as described herein, the value of the Kirkland Products as warranted is greater than actual value of the Kirkland Products. Plaintiffs would not have purchased the Kirkland Products on the same terms, had they known that the Kirkland Products in fact contained wheat. Plaintiffs paid a price premium for the Kirkland Products based on Defendants' misrepresentations. Damages, which may be measured pursuant to the damages provisions of Article 2 of the UCC, are warranted to Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Class.

76. Because of the defects in the Kirkland Products product as described herein, the value of the Kirkland Products as warranted is greater than actual value of the Kirkland Products. Plaintiffs would not have purchased the Kirkland Products on the same terms, had they known that the Kirkland Products in fact contained wheat. Plaintiffs paid a price premium for the Kirkland Products based on Defendants' misrepresentations. Damages, which may be measured pursuant to the damages provisions of Article 2 of the UCC, are warranted to Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Class.

77. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' breach of the warranties of merchantability, Plaintiffs and the other class members have been damaged in an amount to be proven at trial.

UNJUST ENRICHMENT

78. Plaintiffs bring this count on behalf of themselves and the Class, and alternatively, the Subclasses, and repeat and re-allege all previous paragraphs, as if fully included herein.

79. Plaintiffs conferred benefits on Defendants by purchasing the Kirkland Products at a premium price.

80. Defendants had knowledge of their receipt of such benefits.

81. Defendants have been unjustly enriched in retaining the revenues derived from Plaintiffs and Class Members' purchases of the Kirkland Products.

82. Defendants' retaining these moneys under these circumstances is unjust and inequitable because Defendants falsely and misleadingly represented that Kirkland Products are "Grain Free" when, in fact, the Kirkland Products contain wheat.

83. Defendants' misrepresentations have injured Plaintiffs and Class Members because they would not have purchased (or would not have paid a price premium) for the Kirkland Products had they known the true facts regarding the Kirkland Products' ingredients.

84. Because it is unjust and inequitable for Defendants to retain such non-gratuitous benefits conferred on them by Plaintiff and Class Members, Defendants must pay restitution to Plaintiffs and Class Members, as ordered by the Court.

VIOLATIONS OF THE WASHINGTON CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT

(Wash. Rev. Code Ann. §§ 19.86.010, et seq.)

Non-Per Se Unfair Business Practices

85. Plaintiff Shaw brings this Count individually and on behalf of the members of the Washington Subclass against Defendants and repeats and re-alleges all previous paragraphs, as if fully included herein.

86. As companies, Defendants are "persons" within the meaning of the WCPA, Wash. Rev. Code § 19.86.010(1), and conduct "trade" and "commerce" within the meaning of the Washington Consumer Protection Act, Wash. Rev. Code § 19.86.010(2).

87. Plaintiff Shaw and the Washington Subclass members are "persons" within the meaning of the WCPA, Wash. Rev. Code § 19.86.010(1).

88. The conduct described throughout this Complaint is unfair within the meaning of the Washington Consumer Protection Act, RCW 19.86.010, et seq. and includes the following:

a. Omitting the material information that the Kirkland Products contain wheat, which if known would have caused Plaintiff Shaw and others in the market for limited ingredient foods not to purchase these foods;

b. Describing, promising and affirming on their containers and labels that the Kirkland Products are "grain free" when they contain wheat.

89. Defendants engaged in these unfair acts or practices in the conduct of their business.

1 90. The acts and practices described above are unfair because these acts or practices
 2 (1) have caused substantial financial injury to Plaintiff Shaw and the Washington Subclass
 3 members; (2) are not outweighed by any countervailing benefits to consumers or competitors;
 4 and (3) are not reasonably avoidable by consumers.

5 91. Defendants' unfair acts and practices impact the public interest. Defendants
 6 committed the acts and practices in the course of their everyday business; the acts and practices
 7 are part of a pattern or generalized course of business; Defendants committed the acts and
 8 practices repeatedly and continually both before and after Plaintiff Shaw and Washington
 9 Subclass members' purchase of the pet foods; there is a real and substantial potential for
 10 repetition of Defendants' conduct; and many customers are affected or likely to be affected.

11 92. Plaintiff Shaw and members of the Washington Subclass were injured because:
 12 (a) they would not have purchased the Kirkland Products, or would not have purchased the
 13 Kirkland Products on the same terms, had they known that the Kirkland Products in fact
 14 contained wheat; (b) they paid a price premium for the Kirkland Products based on Defendants'
 15 false and misleading statements; and (c) the Kirkland Products did not have the characteristics
 16 and benefits promised because they contained wheat.

17 93. As a result, Plaintiff Shaw and the Washington Subclass have been damaged in
 18 an amount to be proven at trial, but not less than either the purchase price of the Kirkland
 19 Products or, alternatively, the difference in value between the Kirkland Products as advertised
 20 and the Kirkland Products as actually sold.

21 94. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unfair acts or practices, Plaintiff
 22 Shaw and the Washington Subclass members suffered injury in fact and lost money because
 23 they paid more for the Kirkland Products than they would have had they known the truth about
 24 the product.

25 95. On behalf of himself and other members of the Washington Subclass, Plaintiff
 26 Shaw seeks to enjoin Defendants' unlawful acts and practices described herein, to recover their 27

1 actual damages or five hundred dollars, whichever is greater, three times actual damages, and
2 reasonable attorneys' fees.

3 COUNT 5

4 VIOLATIONS OF THE WASHINGTON CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT
5 (Wash. Rev. Code Ann. §§ 19.86.010, et seq.)
6 Non-Per Se Deceptive Business Practices

7 96. Plaintiff Shaw brings this Count individually and on behalf of the members of the 8 Washington Subclass against Defendants and repeats and re-alleges all previous paragraphs, as 9 if fully included herein.

10 97. As alleged above, Plaintiff Shaw, Washington Subclass members, and Defendants
11 are "persons" within the meaning of the WCPA and Defendants' business constitutes "trade"
12 or "commerce" under the WCPA.

13 98. In addition to being unfair to consumers, Defendants' practices were also 14 deceptive.

15 99. Defendants engaged in deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of the 16 Washington Consumer Protection Act, RCW 19.86.010, et seq. by the conduct described in 17 this complaint, including:

18 a. Omitting the material information that the Kirkland Products contain
19 wheat, which if known would have caused Plaintiff Shaw and others in the market for grain
20 free foods not to purchase these foods;

21 b. Describing, promising and affirming on their containers and labels that 22 the Kirkland Products are "grain free" when they contain wheat.

23 100. Defendants directed these representations to consumers through their product
24 labels and advertising.

25 101. The information that Defendants concealed and misrepresented about these pet
26 foods was material in that a reasonable consumer would not have paid a premium for grain free
27 food if he or she had known that the food contained wheat and other unlisted ingredients.

1 102. Defendants' misrepresentations are likely to mislead a reasonable consumer
2 acting reasonably under the circumstances.

3 103. Defendants' deceptive acts and practices impact the public interest. Defendants
4 committed the acts and practices in the course of their everyday business; the acts and practices
5 are part of a pattern or generalized course of business; Defendants committed the acts and
6 practices repeatedly and continually both before and after Plaintiff Shaw and Washington
7 Subclass members' purchase of the pet foods; there is a real and substantial potential for
8 repetition of Defendants' conduct; and many customers are affected or likely to be affected.

9 104. Plaintiff Shaw and members of the Washington Subclass were injured because:
10 (a) they would not have purchased the Kirkland Products, or would not have purchased the
11 Kirkland Products on the same terms, had they known that the Kirkland Products in fact
12 contained wheat; (b) they paid a price premium for the Kirkland Products based on Defendants'
13 false and misleading statements; and (c) the Kirkland Products did not have the characteristics
14 and benefits promised because they contained wheat.

15 105. As a result, Plaintiff Shaw and the Washington Subclass have been damaged in
16 an amount to be proven at trial, but not less than either the purchase price of the Kirkland
17 Products or, alternatively, the difference in value between the Kirkland Products as advertised
18 and the Kirkland Products as actually sold.

19 106. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unfair acts or practices, Plaintiff
20 Shaw and the Washington Subclass members suffered injury in fact and lost money because
21 they paid more for the Kirkland Products than they would have had they known the truth about
22 the product.

23 107. On behalf of himself and other members of the Washington Subclass, Plaintiff
24 Shaw seeks to enjoin Defendants' unlawful acts and practices described herein, to recover their
25 actual damages or five hundred dollars, whichever is greater, three times actual damages, and 26 reasonable attorneys' fees.
27

COUNT 6VIOLATION OF THE NEW YORK DECEPTIVE TRADE PRACTICES ACT
(New York Gen. Bus. Law § 349)

108. Plaintiff McCarthy asserts this Count on behalf of himself and the New York Subclass and repeats and re-alleges all previous paragraphs, as if fully included herein.

109. By the acts and conduct alleged herein, Defendants committed unfair or deceptive acts and practices by misrepresenting that the Kirkland Products were “Grain Free” when, in fact, the Kirkland Products contained wheat.

110. Defendants’ business practice of marketing, advertising, and promoting their Kirkland Products in a misleading, inaccurate, and deceptive manner constitutes unconscionable commercial practice, deception, and misrepresentation and, accordingly, constitutes multiple, separate violations of Section 349 of the New York General Business Law.

111. In marketing, advertising, and promoting the Kirkland Products to consumers, including Plaintiff McCarthy and members of the New York Subclass, Defendants materially misrepresented and omitted key aspects regarding the Kirkland Products throughout the United States, including the State of New York.

112. The foregoing deceptive acts and practices were directed at consumers.

113. The foregoing deceptive acts and practices are misleading in a material way because they fundamentally misrepresent the characteristics, ingredients, benefits, quality, and nature of the Kirkland Products to induce consumers to purchase the same, and/or to pay a premium for the product.

114. Defendants’ unconscionable commercial practices, false promises, misrepresentations, and omissions set forth in this Complaint are material in that they relate to matters which reasonable persons, including Plaintiff McCarthy and members of the New York Subclass, would attach importance to in making their purchasing decisions or conducting themselves regarding the purchase of the Kirkland Products.

115. Plaintiff McCarthy and members of the New York Subclass were injured because:

(a) they would not have purchased the Kirkland Products, or would not have purchased the Kirkland Products on the same terms, had they known that the Kirkland Products in fact contained wheat; (b) they paid a price premium for the Kirkland Products based on Defendants' false and misleading statements; and (c) the Kirkland Products did not have the characteristics and benefits promised because they contained wheat. As a result, Plaintiff McCarthy and the New York Subclass have been damaged in an amount to be proven at trial, but not less than either the purchase price of the Kirkland Products or, alternatively, the difference in value between the Kirkland Products as advertised and the Kirkland Products as actually sold.

116. On behalf of himself and other members of the New York Subclass, Plaintiff McCarthy seeks to enjoin the unlawful acts and practices described herein, to recover his actual damages or fifty dollars, whichever is greater, three times actual damages, and reasonable attorneys' fees.

COUNT 7

VIOLATION OF NEW YORK GEN. BUS. LAW § 350

117. Plaintiff McCarthy brings this Count individually and on behalf of the members of the New York Subclass against Defendants and repeats and re-alleges all previous paragraphs, as if fully included herein.

118. Based on the foregoing, Defendants have engaged in consumer-oriented conduct that is deceptive or misleading in a material way and which constitutes false advertising in violation of Section 350 of the New York General Business Law.

119. Defendants' false, misleading, and deceptive statements and representations of fact include, but are not limited to, the representations that the Kirkland Products were "Grain Free." Defendants also directed these representations to consumers through packaging, labels and other advertising.

1 120. Defendants' false, misleading, and deceptive statements and representations of 2 fact, including but not limited to the representations the Kirkland Products were "Grain Free,"
3 were and are likely to mislead a reasonable consumer acting reasonably under the 4 circumstances.

5 121. Defendants' false, misleading, and deceptive statements and representations of 6 fact, including but not limited to the representations that the Kirkland Products are "Grain Free"
7 have resulted in consumer injury or harm to the public interest.

8 122. Plaintiff McCarthy and members of the New York Subclass were injured because:
9 (a) they would not have purchased the Kirkland Products, or would not have purchased the
10 Kirkland Products on the same terms, had they known that the Kirkland Products in fact
11 contained wheat; (b) they paid a price premium for the Kirkland Products based on Defendants'
12 false and misleading statements; and (c) the Kirkland Products did not have the characteristics
13 and benefits promised because they contained wheat.

14 123. As a result, Plaintiff McCarthy and the New York Subclass have been damaged in 15 an amount to be proven at trial, but not less than either the purchase price of the Kirkland
16 Products or, alternatively, the difference in value between the Kirkland Products as advertised
17 and the Kirkland Products as actually sold.

18 124. As a result of Defendants' false, misleading, and deceptive statements and 19 representations of fact, including but not limited to the representations that the Kirkland
20 Products were "Grain Free," Plaintiff McCarthy and members of the New York Subclass have 21 suffered and continue to suffer economic injury.

22 125. Plaintiff McCarthy and members of the New York Subclass suffered an 23 ascertainable loss caused by Defendants' misrepresentations because they paid more for the 24 Kirkland Products than they would have had they known the truth about the product.

25 126. On behalf of himself and other members of the New York Subclass, Plaintiff
26 McCarthy seeks to enjoin Defendants' unlawful acts and practices described herein, to recover
27

1 their actual damages or five hundred dollars, whichever is greater, three times actual damages,
2 and reasonable attorneys' fees.
